Preface

I love the Pre-Born.

Some may think it strange that a graphic designer would write a book like this. Indeed it is strange, but I feel it in my heart to write this book. Abortion is a topic that I care deeply about defeating. This book's purpose is to demolish the marketing ideas of the Pro-Choice movement.

Having worked as a graphic designer in several marketing departments for almost two decades, I have picked up quite a bit of marketing knowledge. I know how to pinpoint the focus and intent of a product or campaign. I know how "the competition" uses visuals and phraseology to be memorable. I wanted to take this knowledge I've learned in the workplace and focus it on the Pro-Choice movement.

In the process of writing this book on and off for about five years, in July 2015, the video undercover exposé on Planned Parenthood was released on the internet. Those videos spurred me to complete this project and release it on the internet as well. During the process of finishing this project (and being part of the nationwide protest against Planned Parenthood), I saw the need for visual images that could be used for large activist signage. So, in addition to this book, I designed and compiled a library of original images as the Pro-Life Visual Library on bibleartbooks.com. This library will be an ever-growing collection of graphics that can be used on through social media networks or printed as high-resolution signs.

God is to be thanked for the completion of both this book and the visual library. I pray that these resources are used to end abortion in this country and to be used for His glory

God Bless You,

PSALM 139:14

THIS BABY IS
7 WEEKS OLD

Introduction

“Hi, I’m the Genetics Counselor for Kaiser Permanente and I’m calling regarding your 20-week ultrasound results.”

“Hi.”

“I wanted to tell you that the ultrasound shows that there is a white spot on your baby’s heart.”

“OK. What does that mean?”

“The spot is a soft-marker for Down’s Syndrome.”

“That’s OK. We won’t love the baby any less. Just curious, is there anything else that spot can be?”

“Yes, it can just be a shadow.”

“Oh, OK.”

“I figured that would be your stance. I’ll let them know that you will not be terminating the pregnancy.”

Thus began my personal experience with abortion: Kaiser Permanente offering their assassination services to my wife. Later, as my wife related this conversation to me, I began to ask myself several questions:

- How many other women does Kaiser Permanente genetic counselors scare into getting abortion?
- And, how many of those babies, had they been born, would have been perfectly fine (like my son)?
- How would an abortive mom feel that she aborted a perfect baby over a shadow?
- How many pregnant mothers, not wanting a Down’s Syndrome baby, choose abortion over life?

It’s almost like a trigger word—Down’s Syndrome—that sets fears off in people and they automatically choose to abort. Actually, it’s a fact that when prenatal testing reveals a potential birth defect, over 90% of parents choose to abort. It’s easy to convince someone to abort: just find out what a person fears and they will give you all control to take away the “threat”. Now I know why Kaiser Permanente is the medical juggernaut that is: it is built on the backs of aborted babies.

They assumed my Pre-Born son was not worth the risk of Down’s Syndrome. They assumed that abortion was the “solution” to any unwanted Down’s Syndrome baby. The abortion industry is built on hundreds of assumptions that I want to examine in the following pages.

The Marketing of Murder

The womb is the most dangerous place in the world. It didn't always used to be. But since Roe v. Wade, it's the only place that an innocent human being can be murdered freely, legally and without restraint. Once a place of life, the womb has been turned into a war-zone. A woman's body has now been a cemetery for 60 million American babies since 1973.

But, America isn't original in this. Every culture kills off its most helpless victims: babies. From the ancient Aztecs to modern day Americans, babies have always been dispensable. It's just that in modern day America, we don't even have to see the baby to kill it; we're so advanced that we can kill the baby inside the womb.

Babies are murdered everyday in America and yet we keep voting in the same politicians who don't do anything to stop this holocaust. But, it's really not the politicians' responsibility to stop this; they were just voted in. It's the American people that is the problem. They vote in politicians that are just like them. And, because of that, blood is on America's hands.

Murder, on this kind of scale, can only be accomplished by a society that doesn't value life. This kind of holocaust could only have happened through the shrewd marketing of the Pro-Choice movement. How do you hide a holocaust this big? How do you brainwash Americans into believing that murdering your own baby is OK? Well, for one thing, the Pro-Choicers are very good with phrasing things. They use words and phrases to hide their twisted logic. These words and phrases have made the Pro-Choice movement palatable to Americans. That is why America has embraced Choice over Life.

History of Abortion

Abortion has been around almost as long as birthing babies has. Ancient civilizations had many ways of removing unwanted babies from the womb. The use of abortifacient herbs, sharpened instruments, abdominal pressure, drugs, alcohol were all used in ancient Middle Eastern, Egyptian and Indian cultures. Strenuous exercise (such as climbing, paddling, weightlifting or diving) were also used to kill the child in the womb. The use of irritant leaves, fasting, battery, pouring hot water on the abdomen, heated coconut shells, steamed onions, and tightening the girdle were all methods used to abort the child in the womb.

Ancient Greeks used the herb silphium as an abortifacient and contraceptive. Other herbs used included rue, dill, pepper and myrrh. Soranus, a 2nd-Century Greek physician prescribed enemas, diuretics, emmenagogues, fasting, jumping and bloodletting.

Tertullian, a 2nd century Christian theologian described surgical implements which were used in a procedure very similar to the modern dilation and evacuation method. One tool had a “nicely adjusted flexible frame” (for dilation), an “annular blade” (to curette) and “a blunted or covered hook” (for extraction).

Medieval abortionists used herbs such as Italian catnip, savory, sage, soapwort, cyperus, hellebore and pennyroyal. Many of these herbs were not just abortifacients; they were poisonous to the mother as well and many mothers died trying to kill their Pre-Born child in the womb. In 1978, a pregnant woman from Colorado drank two tablespoons of pennyroyal and died.

Although Roman culture allowed for abortion, the spread of Christianity began to change the culture. In 211 A.D. emperors Septimius Severus and Caracalla banned abortion as infringing on parental rights. Temporary exile was the punishment (as the influence of Stoicism did not view the baby as a person and therefore not homicide).

In contrast to the culture around them, the new Christians shunned abortion. The Didache (c. 150A.D.) says, “Do not murder a child by abortion or kill a new-born infant”.

Abortion in England and America

Advances in the fields of surgery, anesthesia and sanitation in the 19th century, along with Victorian morality made abortion (in the English-speaking world) illegal. In 1803, the Malicious Shooting or Stabbing Act stated that it was an offense for anyone to perform or cause an abortion. The punishment for performing a “post-quickening” abortion was the death penalty. The law was later changed (1828 and 1837) to remove the distinction between a late or early pregnancy.

In America in 1800’s there was little regulation regarding abortion. The laws that did exist were based on English common law which allowed for pre-quickening abortions to be a misdemeanor (but those cases were harder to prosecute as only the mother knew when quickening happened). By the 1860’s abortion services were available in New Orleans, New York, Cincinnati, Cleveland and Chicago, with estimates of one abortion for every 4 live births.

In industrialized England, “backstreet abortionists” were fairly common, although their efforts could prove fatal. In 1914, by one estimate, 100,000 women made efforts to procure a miscarriage (usually by drugs).

By the late 1800’s and early 1900’s many pills and drugs were marketed as laxatives or women who were “delayed“, but they were really abortifacients. Drugs such as Beecham’s Pills, Molex Pills and Cote pills.

The “Roaring Twenties” saw the rise of birth control and it is within that context that abortion was pushed to be legalized. Women like Marie Stopes, Margaret Sanger and Stella Brown pushed for abortion for “the working woman” while women like Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Susan B. Anthony fought against it. Feminists wanted to take their sexual lives into their own hands, which continued after WWII and into the 1960’s.

The Sexual Revolution

Modern, legal abortion has its roots in the Sexual Revolution of the 1960’s. Taking it’s cue from the sexually-deviant “science” experiments from Alfred Kinsey (the bi-sexual pedophile), the Hippie Generation grew up being brainwashed about sex. Contrary to popular belief, the Sexual Revolution was not a bloodless revolution. Like most revolutions in history, much blood had to be spilled for the philosophy of sex to finally take control. Think of the French Revolution or the American revolution. . . blood has always been spilled in revolutions. The Sexual Revolution was no different as 60 million lives have been snuffed out in the wake of America’s “sexual awakening”.

The Sexual Revolution of the 1960’s did not make us free. It created the impetus for abortion on demand. Roe v. Wade rode on the coattails of the Sexual Revolution. In short, Roe v. Wade was the culmination of the Sexual Revolution, meaning sex could finally be “without consequences”.

The Hippies that lead the Sexual Revolution preached “Make Love, Not War”. It’s ironic, that those same hippies waged the greatest war ever in the history of the world against Pre-Born children. They were all about “peace”. But the peace that these sexually promiscuous hippies wanted was just their own “peace”. They could care less about the peace of those in the womb. They didn’t care about how their free-loving lifestyle would affect the morals for generations to come. They didn’t need the Bible anymore and they didn’t need prayer in the schools. And, they for sure did not need the Church in their sex lives.

Once the dust settled from the Sexual Revolution, there was a huge vacuum. The four generations after the 60's have been looking for answers ever since. When a group of radicals throw out every tradition, moral and institution that has worked for the last 6,000 years, well, society tends to have to reinvent the wheel. Society tends to have to answer all of life's questions from scratch:

what is a man, what is a woman, what is marriage, what is education, what is life, what is work, what is purpose? And, now we can see the answers these hippies have come up with: bisexuality, transgender, homosexual marriage, and of course, abortion on demand. Revolutions don't happen in a vacuum; they affect generations to come.

And that is where we are now, a sexually-deviant culture. Sex drives the economy. Sex drives Hollywood. Sex drives our advertising and the conversation on the sidewalk. It drives our healthcare and our taxes. It drives politics. It even drives our churches and our pulpits (count how many times pastors use the word "sex" in a sermon). Sex is all the rage.

The Sexual Revolution tossed all those "old Victorian morals" and those "old-fashioned Christian ideas" out the window and replaced it with a pile of dead babies. Any philosophy that results in dead babies is not a good philosophy (even if its motto is "Make Love and Not War").

The Word "Choice"

Choice is the keyword of the Pro-Choice movement. What is wrong with Choice? Well, nothing if peoples' choices are honoring to God. But, Choice, in their mind is just a synonym for "freedom". Yes, it's freedom that they really want: freedom to fornicate with whomever they want, whenever they want, with zero consequences. They want the freedom to sleep around, while still pursuing their careers, with no babies around to cause any disruption in their lives. They want the freedom to be selfish and unloving and live in their own bubble. Babies, the consequences of loose living, are evil in their eyes, because it takes away their freedoms. Therefore that “evil” must be stomped out quickly.

Now, America is all about choices and rights. I’m all for choices and rights for everyone (as long as those choices are glorifying to God). Is murdering your unplanned baby glorifying to God? Of course not; therefore, that is a right I cannot support. Does that “freedom” take away anyone else’s freedom. Of course it does; it takes away the baby’s right to life. Therefore, I cannot support that “freedom”.

Any choice that points away from God (and His Created Order) really isn’t a choice. I mean, technically it is a choice to go away from God’s design for mankind, but it’s more like a vote for death. Do Americans want their choices to exhibit death or life?

Pro-Choicers say they want to be free. They bemoan the fact that they “aren’t free”. They want their bodies to be free and to be in control. So, I say: control your own body before you get pregnant! Don’t take “control” after the fact! Do people want to know how they can achieve the most control over their body and the most freedom? It’s called abstinence. It will give people the most control ever imaginable. It’s quite simple: keep your choice in your pants and you will have a world of freedom.

*Dear Government,
Please give us the right to lawfully murder our own children. We want to fornicate with whomever we wish and not be impeded by any unplanned offspring.*

Pro-Choicers want everyone to justify their sin by calling it “choice”, but could care less about the choice of the Pre-Born. The Pre-Born babies want to be born (if they could talk they would say that very thing). My question is: when does their choice get to be realized? When do their rights kick in? They never will because Pro-Choicers have flipped the baby from being the victim to the licentious mother being the victim. So, because the mother is the victim (and not the baby), babies are fair game.

But, I ask you: what did the baby do to deserve being murdered? What about the baby’s Choice to live? What about the baby’s freedom? I am all about Choice and Freedoms—especially for the Pre-Born. Any assassin-for-hire has a “right” to take someone else’s life, but is it really a “right”? Same two questions: 1) Is assassinating someone glorifying to God (no) and 2) does it take away the right of anyone else (yes). So, we can see that anyone can call something a “right” or a “choice”, but in the eyes of God it really is not so.

The problem with having choices in a relativistic culture is that one choice is just as good as another: carrots or broccoli, pizza or hamburgers, pie or cake, etc. But when it comes to abortion, it isn’t a buffet. It isn’t based on people’s personal preferences and tastes. There is a wrong side and a right side to this moral issue called abortion. A life is being taken. A heartbeat is being stopped. A brain’s waves are ended. This isn’t a “my-favorite-flavor-is-chocolate-What’s-your-flavor?” kind of issue. This is a life being snuffed out.

Choice in the real world deals with real moral scenarios. Only in the Pro-Choicer’s world is the world “free” from absolutes. Reality check: there is absolute right and wrong. There is real good and evil. That is the real world. Laws, morality and the preserving of life all fall under this world of absolutes. Supreme Court notwithstanding, there is still a moral right and wrong. Absolutes are things that exist regardless of what choice is made. Abortion isn’t like going to buy a car, or buying a home, or deciding what to wear for the day. Abortion isn’t like visiting a buffet and deciding what food to stuff your face with (or not). Abortion is a moral issue, much like the Holocaust or American slavery in the 1860’s. See, absolutes exist and govern in any moral scenario whether the choice for life or death is made.

The Word “Freedom”

Another word Pro-Choicers love to use is Freedom. “Freedom” is a synonym for “control”. Loose women want control over their lives and no 8lb. baby is going to stand in their way. How sad that little babies—precious babies—have a target on their back because they have come in direct conflict with selfish, prideful women who want money, sex, power and control.

Freedom has become a god, an idol to worship, regardless if that freedom hurts anyone else. America is all about “my dreams”, “my wishes”, “what I want” so much that she is willing to murder her Pre-Born children in the womb.

Freedom, in America, means, “I can’t criticize you and you can’t criticize me”. Pro-Choicers, in fact, have a motto: “Keep Your Laws Off My Body!” That phrase is essentially a call for anarchy. It is a call for relativity. “What I do is right for me and what you do is right for you”. It is an appeal to be neutral; to not care. It means that they follow no absolute (and neither should you.) Judging one’s actions is condemned by Pro-Choicers. To even call abortion “murder” in this essay is a judgment call. And, according to the world, I cannot make a judgment call like that. But, unlike the world, I have a standard that I judge by; a perfect rule and absolute standard that never changes: God’s Word.

The government, likewise, gives these control-hungry women power because abortion services make many people rich. But, here’s the problem: freedoms, if they aren’t true freedoms in God’s eyes, are simply sin. The Pro-Choice movement worships sin and wants everyone else to worship it, too. Control is so important to them that they must devalue the life of the Pre-Born. But, the devaluing of life—at all ages—is the devaluing of life all across the board. No one is safe. Everyone has the cross-hairs on them. If the government throws babies under the bus, do you think they’ll stop short of mentally-retarded, elderly, toddlers or you?

Freedom has been deceptively chosen as the word to mask their true intentions. True freedom, as designed by God is meant to: 1) love God and 2) love your neighbor. Is Pro-Choice a true freedom that does either of those? Of course not. But when Americans hears the word freedom in any political movement, they get all starry-eyed and never think that this “freedom” will hurt anyone else. But don’t forget: Babies have rights, too.

Pro-Choice and having “the right to choose” are freedoms touted in this country. However, a “right” can never be a right, if it takes away the true rights of others. If a freedom is given to one person, by only taking it away from another, then it is not a true freedom. It is a selfish, evil power-grab that only benefits the one wielding the sword. (The “sword” in this case is prison for any Pro-lifer who seeks to stop this atrocity). If a freedom is given to women by only taking it from their Pre-Born babies, then it will never be a true freedom.

The Pro-Choice Mentality

American women have been groomed and brainwashed to desire to be as “free” as men. They’ve been told that they should not be “bogged down” by any children; that they should pursue their own career and their own lives. If that’s what Pro-Choicers call freedom, then that is pretty pathetic. Women weren’t designed to be providers and protectors of their home; the husband is. To go against God’s design is never freedom. He designed women to bear and raise children. Millions of women, who stay home and raise their children are fulfilling God’s design in their lives.

Not being “bogged down”, though, is really linked to “Reproductive Freedom” – a phrase the Pro-Choicers love to use. However, this phrase, Reproductive Freedom, assumes that women want to become mothers (hence the adjective, “reproductive”). How is motherhood not in the picture when reproducing is? You can’t have your reproductive freedom cake and eat it, too. Reproductive freedom is really like a buffet for Pro-Choicers: “I’ll sleep with this man, this man, not that man, this man, maybe that one, and that man down the street, etc.” That’s the harlot mentality: to sleep around and expect not to get pregnant.

I think if you will engage with any Pro-Choice woman and get to the heart of the issue why she is Pro-Choice, at the center of her opinion will be a heart of immorality. The Pro-Choicer's sole goal in life is not to be tied down by any wedding vows, but to be able to fornicate with whomever she wants. By having sex, a woman has already chosen to be a mother (if she gets pregnant). She has already made a conscious decision to mother a child. One can't claim that "the baby was unexpected" when a woman is being sexually active. Nor, can one "de-mother" herself after she's conceived. Pro-Choicers can't stand on both sides of the fence (though they try).

However, if a woman is concerned about her body's freedom (and not getting pregnant), then she should stay abstinent. If she is truly concerned about her "reproductive right" then she shouldn't be sexually active. If she is afraid of having a baby, then don't be having sex. It's very simple. No sex, no baby. If a woman is chaste, she will not be a conduit for a baby; she will, by definition, be free from children.

It should be obvious by now that what Pro-Choicers want is one thing: power. They want control. And if they can't take control, they will rip it out of the hands of the holder (even if that means taking their own baby's life). Freedom is worth fighting for—even if it means murdering their own offspring. But it's easy (and selfish) to be Pro-Choice when you're the one outside the womb.

If you are reading this and you are a Pro-Choicer, I'm not here to insult you. I just want you to listen to the other side, rather than just parroting the arguments of your position. I appeal to nature: does nature bloom with life or choice? Answer: it blooms with life. Tons of it. Trees and plants produce more seed than could ever be used in an area—but nevertheless it produces abundantly. Likewise, animals do the same thing. Mankind does the same thing. Reproduction is God's way of showing His life to the world. It is natural. It is organic. It is right and good to reproduce.

In the following pages, I want to examine some of the lies the Pro-Choice movement has come up with over the years, but also give evidence from the Bible that God's way is the best way to live life.

Lie #1: Irresponsible Sex Always Leads to Unwanted Pregnancies

Pro-Choicers would have the world believe that, without exception, "irresponsible sex leads to unwanted pregnancies". Is this true? Does every woman who has irresponsible sex not want her baby? Truth be told, some women, though they were irresponsible and didn't plan for a baby, do wind up keeping their baby.

How do Pro-Choicers know that all women don't want to keep their babies? The Pro-Choicers are not omnipotent. There are millions of women, who want to keep their baby, though they made poor choices. There are even thousands of women who have been raped who have chosen to keep their baby. These women are heroes. But the Pro-Choicers only focus on the women who don't want their babies (from irresponsible sex) and turn the "minorities" into the "majority" to bolster their cause.

Here's the other thing: Pro-Choicers actually proliferate irresponsible sex by offering free birth control. So, by keeping women in an "irresponsible sex" hamster wheel, they will eventually get pregnant at some point and want an abortion.

Lie #2: An Unplanned Baby is Always An Unwanted Baby

There is a huge difference between an "unwanted" pregnancy versus an "unplanned" pregnancy. Pro-Choicers love to say that those two things are the same thing. Unplanned simply means the baby wasn't planned. So, because the baby wasn't planned, does that mean a woman murders her baby?

Or, let's put it another way, because something wasn't planned, does a woman just go to the extreme to try to erase it? For example, a driver cuts a woman off, on the road. Does the woman write down that person's license plate, research where that person lives, drives to their house and shoots them? Does murder change the fact that she was cut off? No. All she had before was an act of being cut off. Now she has the act of being cut off and blood on her hands. Assassinating the other driver doesn't change the past and only destroys her future (as she will spend the rest of her life in jail).

Unplanned things happen all the time! Unwanted things happen all the time! It's called life. Being not in control simply means you're living life. Just because you don't have control over a situation, does that mean you do whatever you can to get out of a situation? If a fly lands on your salad, do you take a sledge hammer and destroy the fly, the salad and the table?

Here's another thing to consider: are unwanted pregnancies really all that unplanned? A man and woman had sex together. . . was that really "unplanned"? "Unplanned pregnancy" is an oxy-moron. If a couple is having sex, then all pregnancies are planned.

If a couple is having sex, all babies are welcome. But the world doesn't see it that way. The world wants all couples to have sex with no consequences.

Here's some Biology 101: Sex leads to babies. Sex shouldn't lead to murder. How can an act of love between a man and woman lead to an act of taking a baby's life? That just doesn't make sense. Having an unplanned pregnancy (or even an unwanted pregnancy) doesn't justify the murder of an innocent baby.

Lie #3: Just A Blob of Tissue

The scientist Ernst Haeckel (1834-1919) formulated the now-debunked evolutionary theory of Recapitulation. This former theory is a joke to the scientific community, both secular and Christian. It has been well documented and proven scientifically that the beginning of a zygote is fully human; not a fish or a pig or a bird. Ontogeny does not recapitulate phylogeny. When an egg and sperm meet it is fully human. What develops inside of a mother's womb is not an animal (and certainly does not retrace its evolutionary family tree).

Scientists now believe that what is inside a mother's womb is fully human, but there is a common phrase used among Pro-Choicers to steer away from that and to call it a blob. The phrase is: "Just a Blob of Tissue". I briefly want to deconstruct this phrase:

Just—Commonplace, generalized, irrelevant. By saying "just" it puts in the category of "we don't need this thing. It's something small and insignificant. But is that true?

Blob—Amorphous, not human. Blob has to be the word of choice here. A blob is nothing. It is less than nothing. It is without shape, not alive and can certainly be done away with like a booger or a piece of feces, right? But is that true?

Tissue—Not alive, human-esque. But is that true? Does tissue have heartbeats and brainwaves?

All the words in this phrase are meant to denigrate the fact that it is a living baby and twist people's logic into thinking it is an insignificant, irrelevant, useless, commonplace thing that is not human. "Just a Blob of Tissue" equals "This insignificant, amorphous, non-alive, non-human tissue-blob can be done away with and no one would ever miss it". That is the real translation of this phrase.

Scientific facts, however, stand in utter contrast to what the Pro-Choicers want to believe. From the very beginning of a fertilized egg comes a unique human life. A short review of life in the womb may help remind us how unique we are:

- Day 1 – Fertilization; all human chromosomes

are present; unique human life begins

- Day 6 – Embryo begins implanting in the uterus
- Day 22 – Heart begins to beat with the child’s own blood, often a different type than the mother’s
- Week 5 – Eyes, legs, hands begin to develop
- Week 6 – Brain waves detectable; mouth, lips present; fingernails forming
- Week 7 – Eyelids, toes form; nose distinct, baby kicking and swimming
- Week 8 – Every organ in place; bones begin to replace cartilage, fingerprints begin to form
- Weeks 9 to 10 - Teeth begin to form, fingernails develop; baby can turn head, frown
- Week 11 – Baby can grasp objects placed in hand; all organ systems functioning; the baby has fingerprints, a skeletal structure, nerves, and circulation
- Week 12 – Baby has all of the part necessary to experience pain, including the nerves, spinal cord and thalamus; the baby is nearing the end of the first trimester

Here’s the truth: Science can’t even make a blob of tissue. So, even if there was only a blob in the womb, why get rid of it, since Science can’t create one from scratch? It’s not a blob and it is certainly alive. There is life inside the womb—human life—as any pregnant mother knows. No pregnant mother ever says, “We’re having a blob!” No— when she finds out that she’s pregnant; it’s weighty. It’s a huge revelation. And, because of the hugeness of being pregnant, many women start making preparations for the baby (painting the baby room, etc.) Other mothers, unfortunately, start making preparations to remove the baby from the womb. But, if it what was inside her womb was really a “blob of tissue” it wouldn’t be a weighty decision. Pregnant women wouldn’t be in distress. There wouldn’t be such a huge decision to hurry up and “get it done and over with”. Proverbs 1:16 says, “For their feet run to evil, and make haste to shed blood.”

Science knows that what is inside the womb is a baby; they know it is not a blob. Today’s technology, like 4-D ultrasounds, confirm that it is a baby. Pregnant women know that it is a baby, too. So, both science and pregnant women (and plain ol’ logic) know that what is inside the womb is a baby.

So why does the myth, “It’s Just a Blob of Tissue” persist? I think this is the only thing the Pro-Choicers have in their arsenal: just a flat-out lie. They have to say that the design and shape of the baby in the ultrasounds is really not a baby at all. They have to go out of their way to make God’s design of a baby, well, commonplace. They believe that anyone can get pregnant anywhere, anytime. Pregnancy is “so common” (that’s why they want to push birth control), that by doing an abortion this time, it won’t ruin your chances for “when you are ready”. The truth is that many women can never be pregnant. Also, there are thousands of miscarriages that happen in America. Pregnancy is not common. Having a baby is truly a miracle. But they have to take away the miracle-ness of pregnancy to give the aborting mother some comfort. I think this myth is the only justification aborting mothers have. It is the only thing they can tell themselves to take away the guilt for what they are about to do.

If “that thing inside the womb” is such a small, insignificant thing, then why not keep it? What harm is there in keeping it? If there was one hornet flying around your backdoor, that’s not a big deal but a whole hornet’s nest, sure, get rid of them. Why the urgency in getting rid of a small, insignificant thing in your body? Is it because women know what it is? What it will become? Do they think the sooner they smash the baby, the sooner they can forget that the baby existed?

In 1989, then -president of Planned Parenthood Faye Wattleton was quoted as saying, “Women are not stupid. . . women have always known that there was a life in there.” That is true. There is life inside the womb, as opposed to the myth of a lifeless blob.

Lie #4: We Stop the Abuse

Another assumption that Pro-Choicers would love to tout as fact is: “an unwanted child being born, will grow up in a home full abuse”. Really? Does every unplanned birth lead to an unwanted child? Is every unwanted child born in poverty and abusive situations? Of course not.

There are millions of unplanned children who are wanted; there are millions of unwanted children that grow up in middle-class homes. How do Pro-Choicers know that every unwanted child will grow up in an abuse-stricken home? Can they tell the future with their crystal ball? Maybe the liberal grew up in an abusive home and are projecting on everyone else, but not every home is abuse-stricken.

You don't end abuse by killing the Pre-Born. You only proliferate it. Pro-Choicers love to pretend that they are out for childrens' best interest when in fact, they are just out for their own sick, monetary goals. You don't protect children (from being abused) by murdering them. I'm sorry to state the obvious, but murder isn't protection.

Lie #5: Poverty Will End

Pro-Choicers use arguments of the “poor family” or the “poor unplanning couple” to bolster their arguments against the life of the child. Does the lack of planning your “perfect family” supersede the value of a life? Does the possession of money (or lack thereof) decide for Americans whether they will kill an innocent child or not?

There are plenty of rich people who could have provided for their children everything (materialistically), who still have decided to kill their Pre-Born babies. And, on the other hand, there are plenty of unwed, poverty-stricken mothers who have decided to birth their babies into poverty.

We live in a society that says money and material possessions decide peoples' morals for them. But, in reality, morals come from God and they are irrevocable. Money is a poor excuse to murder a baby in the womb. Choice is a lame justification for killing an unwanted Pre-Born child. There is right and wrong apart from money, material possessions and concepts of freedom. To murder, in God's eyes, is never justified. Exodus 20:13 says, "Thou shalt not kill." The Pro-Choicers would love to change God's words to: "Thou shalt kill when it is convenient for you."

The word, love, is used a lot in the justification of abortion. For example, it's out of "love" that women want to abort because they "don't want their child growing up in a poor home." It is also out of "love" that the child would want the Pro-Choicer to be happy, wouldn't he? It is insane to call abortion "out of love". It's like describing Jeffrey Dahmer's murders as being done "out of love".

Poverty-stricken people aren't the only people who allegedly get abortions. For example, did you know that Marilyn Monroe had at least 12 abortions by her late-twenties (according to author Norman Mailer). In addition, Lucille Ball, Judy Garland and Whoopi Goldberg all aborted their own children. Ava Gardner reportedly aborted two of Frank Sinatra's children. Likewise, many reports (such as those from Judith Campbell Exner and Mimi Alford) show that JFK fathered many children that he later aborted (illegally, I might add as legal abortion didn't exist yet). So much for the poor, outcast and destitute wanting abortions. Abortion is a convenience for selfish people of all classes: whether rich or poor, black or white, famous or unknown.

Lie #6: Human Life Only Begins at Birth

You are alive when you are born, but that doesn't mean that life started when you were born. In fact, the start of "being human" is at conception. Humanity doesn't start outside of the womb; it starts in the womb. Just because you can't see that person inside a womb, doesn't make that person any less human. A fertilized egg is a living human being. And if that fertilized egg is taken off the uterine wall or disrupted or destroyed, a murder has taken place.

Scientifically speaking, an embryo is fully human; not a fish or a reptile, but fully human. There is no evolutionary stages the embryo goes through before becoming human. Just because you can't hear the scream of the baby being murdered in the womb, doesn't make it any less heinous of a crime.

Human life is designed by God; no one has the right to take that life away. Men and women don't create babies; they are just the conduits for babies. God creates babies. He creates life. Job 33:4 says, "The spirit of God hath made me, and the breath of the Almighty hath given me life." No one has any right to destroy the gift that God gives.

What will that embryo become if given 10 months? A perfectly healthy baby. Why would a mother step into that 10-month timeline—say at 2 or 3 months and terminate that baby from existence? A perfectly healthy baby would have emerged in 6 or 7 months. Was that too much for the abortive mother to handle? That is just sick. Any mother who is a murderer would not have made a good mother anyways. But not being able to "be a good mother" is a poor excuse to murder her own child.

Lie #7: Abortion is Just Birth Control

Calling anything that stops a birth from happening "birth control" is really a term to calm the consciences of people. It's a lesser term (rather than murder) that doesn't sound so harsh. But, to call abortion "birth control" is like saying an assassin uses birth control (i.e. bullets). Yes, the bullets take the victim's life (and all the victim's future babies) but are bullets really to be considered "birth control"? Likewise, is abortion to be considered birth control?

What most people think is "birth control" really is conception control (i.e. diaphragms, condoms, and any other non-abortive conception control methods). Abortion, in a technical sense, is birth control but only because it "controls" a baby from being born, by murdering the baby. Abortion is to be considered "controlled birthing" rather than birth control.

Abortion was never about conception control, because if it was, then women would have pleaded (or would have taken upon themselves) to castrate their husbands/boyfriends. But they never will. Women and men want all the pleasures of sexual intercourse without the "inconvenience" of a new baby in their lives. But, couples can't have their cake and eat it too! You can't have the pleasures of sex and not accept the beautiful end-result of that. The baby is a beautiful result of sexual intercourse—God designed it that way! Abortion (and all abortive contraception) steps in where God says "This is good" and says, "This is bad. I must stop this now".

Pro-Choicers love to muddy the waters with calling abortion "birth control". Couples think that it is just like any other non-abortive conception control method). But it is not. (Later on in this book, I'll talk more about the details of abortion procedures). It isn't conception control. To label abortion as birth control is like labeling a child molester as an "Appreciator of Children" or a Pornography Addict as "He values women." A molester "appreciates" children to death and a porn-addict "values" women to death. Likewise, abortion controls a birth to death.

Lie #8: Pregnant Women Have Control

Pregnant women have been told the lie that they can have control over every aspect of their lives: including when, where, and how they get pregnant. The truth is no one on this planet has control over their lives. God is the One in control; not you. And, it's a good thing He is in control, because when women do get control over their lives (like being pregnant) they just hurt everyone around them.

In America, we've seen what happens when aborting women have control over their lives: 60 million murdered babies. That is the fruit of women having control over their lives.

American women like to think of themselves as so independent and that they don't need anyone or anything. But is that true? How many women are addicted to nicotine or alcohol? How many are drug-users? The things a woman worships can be seen in the excuses she uses to justify killing her own baby in the womb. Things like freedom, finances, control, choice, sexual license, abdication of responsibility, etc. are all gods to this woman. These are the idols in a woman's heart. These are the idols that control her decisions. These are the gods that she serves but will never be satisfied from.

The truth is, pregnant women don't have control over their lives and abortion is not going to give her more control. In fact, the moment a woman terminates the life of her own offspring is the moment her whole life will unravel. She will never go back to "normal". Everything will be tainted by that one bad decision. Do you know how many marriages end because of abortion? Do you know how many women turn to drugs and alcohol to numb the pain, after abortion? Do you know how many women suffer depression and commit suicide after having an abortion? The number is probably in the millions.

Abortion doesn't just take the life of the baby; it takes the life of the mother. Abortion doesn't happen in a vacuum; it affects everyone around the mother (but especially the mother). That is quite the opposite of "having control".

Lie #9: It's My Body and My Uterus

It's your uterus and your body. I get it. It's none of my business. . . that is, until your uterus becomes a murder room. When it becomes a place where innocent lives are taken, it is my business in your uterus. Why? Because it's my taxes in your uterus. Get the abortion doctor out of your uterus and you will see that your uterus will remain private. If an innocent life is being taken—wherever it is— it is every Christian's duty to stick their nose into the darkest alley or darkest uterus to stop it.

Life isn't designed to be created and then destroyed. Lives aren't to be discarded wholesale like trash. Life is the most precious commodity on this planet; even more so than air or water. A baby is a separate entity than the mother; that's why there are two blood types, two heartbeats, two brainwaves. We're not talking about a uterus; we're talking about what's inside that uterus.

"My Body, My Choice" is another phrase that Pro-Choicers use. That's fine when it comes to blood transfusions, gorging yourself on chocolate, getting drunk, exercising and a million other things you can do in life. The problem is when a third party is brought into your choice, namely a baby. That's why Pro-Lifers have to get into Pro-Choicers business. That's when righteous people have to stand up and say, This isn't right! Good people have a right and duty to get into people's lives, if they are destroying lives. Pro-Choicers can't destroy innocent human beings and expect the rest of the world to just shut up. It wasn't Corrie Ten Booms' business to rescue Jews from the Nazis, either. But she did it anyway and she was a true hero. It's not about "who's business it is"; it's a matter of right and wrong. It's a matter of stopping the evil from continuing.

It's ironic to me that Pro-Choicers will complain and say that they "don't want the Church in their uterus". So, let me get this straight: every man in town is allowed in there, every politician, every tax dollar, every abortion doctor; just anyone besides the Church? Guess what: the moment a baby is in your uterus, or my tax dollars or an abortion doctor— it is my business. As a fellow human and a Christian, I have to save any human life—wherever it is. If a fellow human is taking a human life, it is my job (and every Christian's job) to step in between those two humans and save the one human from being murdered. The hammer has to fall on me. I have to take the bullet; I take the knife. I have to be a mediator—just like Jesus did for me.

Lie #10: Sex Without Consequences

Irresponsible Sex is, in fact, taught by the Pro-Choicers, as sort of a future business scheme. Planned Parenthood gives out free birth control. Why? Because they get people hooked on the idea of "sex without consequences". They get couples used to the idea of being in control. But, there's another devious reason why they give out free birth control: they know that birth control is not full-proof and will fail at some point. When it fails, Planned Parenthood is there to help keep that person in control of their licentious living by offering another service: abortion.

Pro-Choicers love to tout responsibility. But "being responsible", in their minds, means using birth control (and abortion if necessary) to keep a grip on your sex-life. Sexual passion and "living for the moment" is way more important than being responsible, right? The truth is, immoral living can never be "responsible". If a woman is sleeping around, no amount of conception control is going to make her "responsible". Responsibility within licentious living is impossible.

But, Pro-Choicers push the lie anyway that women can live sexually-immoral lives and still be in control of when they want their baby. Pro-Choicers say that birth control is a win-win for couples: they get the enjoyment of sex and they don't have to show love to any babies. Birth control works—until it doesn't. And when it doesn't, Planned Parenthood is there with open arms.

What does it take for a mother to kill a creature that is connected to her and has 23 of her own chromosomes? Or (if the father is pushing for the abortion) what does it take for a father to push for the murder of his own offspring (which has 23 of his chromosomes). How can this couple not care about their own child breathing and living? Do they not care that they won't have a new generation following in their line? This couple has no perspective of the future; only selfishness for the present. A self-centered life only leads to nothing and then one day they will die and leave no one behind.

There are major, life-altering consequences for the abortive mother or the abortive father. The guilt and shame mothers go through from abortion is just agonizing. Post-abortion counseling helps a little, but only with God's help can guilt be worked through.

What Pro-Choicers don't tell you is aborting your baby will throw your life into a tale-spin that you will never recover from. There's no such thing as "sex without consequences" or "abortion without consequences". Galatians 6:7 says, "Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."

I would suggest not living a sexually immoral life. I would suggest not having sex until you find the love of your life. I would suggest living according to the Bible rather than your own fleeting feelings. That is true responsibility. That seems simpler and less guilty than having to abort your Pre-Born baby.

Lie #11: We Help the Rape Victim

What about the woman who is raped and gets pregnant?" the Pro-Choicers will scream. For all those who think abortion is the answer to such a difficult situation, here are a few facts for you to consider:

- Pregnancy occurs in 0 to 2.2% of rape victims
- Most rape victims who become pregnant want to keep their babies
- The pressure to abort often comes from someone else; not the rape victim
- Of all the abortions performed in America, fewer than 1% are because of rape

The attack of the baby's body in the womb is never the answer to the attack of a woman's body in the world. Tell me, what sins did this baby commit do deserve such a horrific death? Two wrongs don't make a right. Both the baby and the woman need to be loved. Violence to a baby will never take away the violence of rape in a woman's life.

Any woman who is raped and then aborts her baby, is just like her rapist. Why? Because the rapist hurt a person weaker than him and the mother hurts the person weaker than her (the baby). But here's the clincher: the rapist didn't take the life of his victim; the abortive mother did. A murderer is worse than a rapist.

Pro-Choicers would have the end of every rape story as a baby being murdered. How is that right? How is that to take away the guilt and shame of being raped? How does piling on more guilt and shame (from abortion) a help to that mother? Pro-Choicers don't care about any woman who has been raped. They only care about aborting babies; as if that will end the mother's hurt.

A rape victim needs counseling and a support group and a church. She needs to be shown love and how to forgive. She needs God to show her how to move on with her life. She does not need blood on her hands to help her with the grieving process.

Lie #12: We Stop the Pain

For Pro-Choicers, abortion is not the murder of a human being; it's a mercy. Pro-Choicers actually believe that it is a "mercy" to terminate a baby before they even get a chance at life. It is the same philosophy behind euthanasia (i.e. it is a "mercy" to end suffering and pain in the life of an individual; therefore, they terminate the individual).

Question: Is the only way to end pain and suffering in the world is to take peoples' lives from them? Answer: it is not. That's the kind of sick reasoning a serial killer uses to continue murdering his victims. Is that the "mercy" that people like to show others? The truth is, there are numerous other ways to fight pain and suffering without resorting to murdering other humans!

Consider this illustration: a man is driving down the freeway and gets into a serious head-on collision. His head crashed through the windshield and shards of glass embedded themselves into his skull. He was, however, still alive in the hospital. Rather than suffer through the pain and the surgeries of face-reconstruction, what if he decided to decapitate himself to relieve his pain? Would that be better than actually going through the surgeries and enduring all the pain that would go with it? I think not. But, according to Pro-Choicers, that is the best thing he could do. Pro-Choicers say: "When you're in pain, stop it at all costs!", "Before a baby comes into an abusive and poverty stricken world: kill it off", "Before your loved one dies of cancer, kill him off!"

These are philosophies of death; not life. Pro-Choicers have it right when they say "Pain and suffering is wrong". But they get it wrong when they kill the very individual that they are supposed to be having sympathy for.

Christians, too, agree that pain and suffering are wrong. But we are not willing to sniper people in the head to protect them from the evils of the world.

And, by the way, are Pro-Choicers really that naïve to think that they are really going to stop pain and suffering in the world for people? News flash: this side of Genesis 3 (which Pro-Choicers don't believe really happened) there will be pain and suffering. Murdering people is not the way to stop pain and suffering. For example, every Pro-Choicer has pain and suffering in their own lives—so, should they all just put a bullet in their mouth?

Mankind is the problem for all the sin we see. We have it in us (yes, even the Pro-Choicers) to sin and hurt others. We are the problem—and so is everyone else. We are all messed up inside; it's called sin. And sin causes a lot of pain and suffering. Humans are so messed up that they try to fix the problem (a baby out of wedlock) and only compound it by another problem (murdering the baby). That's the kind of sin humans deal with. That's the kind of "problem solving" humans are good at.

Lie #13: Safe and Legal Healthcare

Another phrase that Pro-Choicers like to use is "Safe Abortions" vs "Unsafe Abortions". During the trial of Roe v. Wade this argument was made that poor girls were going into back alleys and using rusty clothes hangers to abort their babies. Many girls died by this type of unsanitary murder. That's why abortion became legal because America didn't want poor, amoral girls dying in back alleys. They needed "safe, legal and guilt-free healthcare" they reasoned.

First, let me just set the record straight on "safe" vs. "unsafe" abortions: abortions are 100% unsafe for the baby every time.

Abortion is an invasive operation. It's never safe for the mother, either. It's a great risk to put instruments and bacteria into a woman's uterus. A woman risks infection, bleeding or death from the procedure.

Second, I'd like to address the "poor girls in the back alleys" by asking a question: if a murderer dies accidentally by trying to commit a murder is that anyone else's fault but his own? It would seem to me that any drunk driver who accidentally kills himself in a car wreck is getting what he deserves. It would seem to me that any drug user that overdoses on his own drugs is getting his just reward. It would seem that any back-alley murderer that accidentally falls on his own knife would be getting what he deserves.

Maybe girls shouldn't have been in the back alleys to begin with? People always reap what they sow. America didn't want to believe that a girl should reap what she sows. Through the shrewd arguments of lawyers, America poured her heart to some theoretical, confused, lost, amoral girl rather than with the baby in the womb. Somehow America's sympathy became a misplaced sympathy. And now, 43 years later, we are still worried about "safe" vs. "unsafe" abortions, having never taken into account how unsafe (indeed, deadly) abortions are for the Pre-Born.

On Nov 28, 2015, The CDC (Centers for Disease Control and Prevention) released a summary named "Abortion Surveillance - United States, 2011". Within the report are these facts:

- In 2010, a total of 10 women died from legal abortions, but no woman died from illegal abortion
- Since 1973, there have been 421 deaths from legal abortion and 56 deaths from illegal abortion
- From 1973 to 2011, death from legal abortions are 7.51 times more likely to occur than illegal abortions (that is an average of 12.89 deaths a year).
- From 1973 to 2011, only 86% of all legal abortions can truly be identified as a "safe procedures".
- The last know death from an illegal abortion was in 2004 (or, one death in every 7 years).

Abortions aren't safe. Talk to the family of Lakisha Wilson, Tonya Reaves or Jennifer Morbelli who all died from botched legal abortions. The back alleys, with their rusty clothes hangers, are safer by 13%.

And yet the myth that Abortion is healthcare persists. Abortion isn't healthcare; it never was. I don't understand how children, being violently ripped out of their mother's wombs, can be considered healthcare. Healthcare does not equal infanticide. That's like calling a terrorist a "health care provider".

Lie #14: Government Trumps God

Someone may ask, "Doesn't a woman have a right to choose to keep her baby or terminate her baby? Doesn't the government allow for this?" I would answer, "Doesn't God have a right to define what is right or wrong? Doesn't a baby have a right to life?" I wasn't aware that we could determine our own morality or the length of someone's life. That's the problem living in a society that doesn't believe in absolutes they don't believe the Bible which says, "We ought to obey God rather than men."(Acts 5:29b)

God defines what is right or wrong; not society's ever-changing fads. In a country with no absolutes, these are the kind of questions people ask.

Here's the thing: the person asking this question believes that morality is a choice that we can either choose to follow or not to follow. But, since when were moral issues choices? In moral issues, there is only one choice: doing good. If you don't do good, you are evil. In a selfish, materialistic society, people have to let blow all morality to the wind. Why? So that "no one bothers me and I can live the way I want to".

The question of there being a "choice" is really missing the point, though. By putting abortion on the table of "choice", it automatically takes the discussion away from a moral issue. But, don't let that fool you. Pro-

Choicers use words like “choice” to get people to believe that it is a choice and that you have no say in that “choice” made by another person. But moral issues are never a choice. They are either wrong or right.

Serial killers also have a table that they dine at and on their table is “to kill someone” or “not kill someone”. To them that is a perfectly, normal choice. To a serial killer, there is no “morality” label attached to any of those choices; just his feelings in the moment. There is nothing wrong or right about either of those choices. So, he usually will pick the “to kill someone”. Serial killers are definitely Pro-Choice: if they want to kill someone they can; if they don’t want to, they won’t. Osama Bin Ladin was Pro-Choice, too.

Adolph Hitler did the same thing. He declared Jews as non-persons and was able to brainwash almost the entire German people into believing his way. Once someone is a non-person, then a “choice” is allowed to take place in a person’s mind: to leave the non-person alone or to kill the non-person. A choice simply is an excuse to do what you want to do—and in our case—would be the excuse of killing babies and/or Jews.

If the government says a certain issue is legal, but God (and the Bible) says that same issue is immoral, who are you to follow: Government or God? Unfortunately, many people choose to follow Government. Why? Because the Government is simply a mirror of the people. The Government is the god that people have made for themselves. It is an institution of authority that they can worship freely and wholeheartedly agree with (because they have created the beast). The Government for, by and of the people is simply an extension of who the people are.

For example, because people in America want to kill their own offspring, they lobby the Government to make it legal. And, then the Government does make it legal and puts a stamp of a approval on abortion. “Legality” is thus attached to abortion and therefore justifies the killing of babies. But, one slight problem: just because the Government says something is “legal” does that mean God agrees with that decision? No. God’s Law never changes. Do

Pro-Choicers think they can hide behind the White House on Judgment Day? Will they point to the Supreme Court and say, “They made me do it!”?

Governments in all history have had to make decisions. They have made good decisions and they have made bad decisions. Given all the decisions in all human history it is inevitable that some of those decisions have aligned with God’s will or not aligned with God’s will. Legalizing abortion was one of those decisions that did not align with God’s will. It aligned with man’s will and that’s why baby-murder has continued for 43 years.

However, just because a political party is the majority power in place doesn’t make it right. The Third Reich (the Nazis) were the majority political power in Germany for about a decade. That didn’t mean they were right. They were murdering innocent people, just like the abortionist down the street. Laws should never facilitate dead babies. Governments should never sanction the death of the innocent.

Joshua 24:15 says, “And if it seem evil unto you to serve the LORD, choose you this day whom ye will serve; whether the gods which your fathers served that were on the other side of the flood, or the gods of the Amorites, in whose land ye dwell: but as for me and my house, we will serve the LORD.”

What is Abortion?

In 1984, a short documentary entitled, The Silent Scream, was produced by American Portrait Films. It featured Dr. Bernard Nathanson, the former director of NARAL, who later became Pro-life. The film (now available on YouTube) shows a live abortion taking place via the then-new technology of ultrasound. Following is a description of the film:

“The clip begins with an ultrasound of the fetus (girl) who is about to be aborted. The girl is moving in the womb; displays a heartbeat of 140 per minute; and is at times sucking her thumb. As the abortionist’s suction tip begins to invade the womb, the child rears and moves violently in an attempt to avoid the instrument. Her mouth is visibly open in a “silent scream.” The child’s heart rate speeds up dramatically (to 200 beats per minute) as she senses aggression. She moves violently away in a pathetic attempt to escape the instrument. The abortionist’s suction tip begins to rip the baby’s limbs from its body, ultimately leaving only her head in the uterus (too large to be pulled from the uterus in one piece). The abortionist attempts to crush her head with his forceps, allowing it to be removed.”

This film was influential in the Pro-Life movement and did much to save many babies from the slaughterhouse. However, almost 30 years later, we still have abortion-on-demand in America. Perhaps people don’t realize what the procedure of abortion really looks at. Perhaps America doesn’t care what an abortion procedure looks like. Well, it’s time to talk about what abortion procedures look like.

According to the dictionary, abortion is simply: 1. a medical procedure used to end a pregnancy and cause the death of the fetus. 2. the termination of a pregnancy after, accompanied by, resulting in, or closely followed by the death of the embryo or fetus: as: a) spontaneous expulsion of a human fetus during the first 12 weeks of gestation. b) induced expulsion of a human fetus. 3. Expulsion of a fetus from the uterus before it can survive on its own. We are concerned only with the first description (as the other ones don’t apply).

Abortion is about preventing a baby from breathing the open air. Abortion stops a baby from ever seeing the light of day. Abortion robs a baby from the joys of life. Abortion crushes the freedom of the Pre-Born. Abortionists go into the safest place in the world (the womb) and make it the unsafest place in the world. Rather than saying,

“Welcome to the world, little one”, babies are, instead, greeted with a scalpel and hook. For example, one method of abortion (Dilation and Curettage) the abortionist uses forceps to rip the baby’s body apart. The teeth of the forceps twist and tear the bones of the Pre-Born child. This process is repeated until the fetus is totally dismembered and removed.

Another procedure (Dilation and Extraction) is to reach in and grab the baby’s feet and pull the baby’s body out except for the head. A pair of scissors are jammed in the back of the baby’s head and spread apart to make a hole in the baby’s skull. The abortionist then inserts a suction catheter into the skull to suck the baby’s brain out. Once the skull collapses, forceps are then used to crush the baby’s head and the abortionist pulls the baby’s body out the rest of the way.

Another abortion method (Saline Amniocentesis) is to inject saline solution into the amniotic fluid. The baby breathes in, swallows the salt and dies from salt poisoning, dehydration, brain hemorrhage and convulsions. Taking nearly an hour to die, the baby’s skin is completely burned, turns red and deteriorates. The baby is in pain the entire time. The mother goes into labor 24 - 48 hours later and delivers a dead baby.

These are but three procedures that terminate the life of a baby. There are at least two dozen more procedures. To call abortion anything but murder is to completely twist and lie about the facts.

Babies are created in the womb and, and are supposed to, at the end of 9 months, come out of the womb and into the light. But babies don’t see the light anymore. In fact, they are in darkness and die in darkness. Imagine a 3 month old baby in the womb, perfectly content, growing and healthy. Then one day, the baby hears a noise. And the noise keeps getting closer and closer. Suddenly, a powerful suction tube with a sharp cutting edge (a cannula) is seen coming right for the baby. The suction dismembers the body of the developing baby and tears the placenta from the wall of the uterus, sucking the contents into a collection bottle. After this, a curette is used to scrape out the uterus for any more parts, and a suction machine goes through the uterus once again to make sure all parts have been removed. This vacuum suction is 29 times more powerful than a household vacuum cleaner. This is a real method of abortion and it is called Suction Aspiration/ Vacuum Curettage. Rather than being welcomed into the world by a loving mother's arms, this baby is welcomed into the world with deadly weapon.

Truth #1: Abortion is Psuedo-Control

So, after reading the above procedures, my question is: why is abortion still around today and even accepted? What have the marketing teams for Planned Parenthood said to make abortion palatable to the American public? Well, for one, I think they market abortion as control. Not just birth control, but career-control, or freedom-control or it's-my-life-control. For example, the life in the womb is but a small inconvenience that must be crushed so that the woman can maintain control of her life. They market abortion as control, but what they are selling is murder.

It's ironic: if someone has control, then that means the other people around that person do not have control. In short, only one person can have control at a time; in this instance, the control is taken away from the baby in the womb and given to the mother. The baby's right to breathe is taken away so that his mother can have control. The baby's heart must be stopped so that his mother can retain control.

Abortion is really not about birth control but is really about career-control, freedom-control or it's-my-life-control. Therefore, the life in the womb is but a small inconvenience that must be crushed so that the woman can maintain control of her life. Pro-Choicers need to hide this selfish mentality (and to hero-ize the Pro-Choicer) and therefore use shrewd words and marketing to do so.

Truth #2: Abortion is Murder

Despite the marketing and twisting of facts by Pro-Choicers, abortion is still murder. It is not an “elective procedure” to help the mother. It is not even “healthcare” for women. It is murder. Much like an assassin for hire, who sells his services to people who want control over their lives, abortionists do likewise. They sell a service to desperate mothers: “Pay our fees and we will take care of any of your problems—including the problem inside your womb”.

Tell me, in the 1940’s, didn’t Adolf Hitler do the same thing? He deemed Jewish people as subhuman, and to maintain his idea of peace, he killed 6 million Jews (along with 6 million other people). Hitler was Pro-Choice. He offered a “procedure” to rid the world of the “Jewish problem”. You see, as soon as you label someone a “problem”, you open the door to all solutions to eliminate that “problem”. One author, Konnilyn G. Feig, described Hitler’s “final solution to the Jewish problem”:

“Hitler exterminated the Jews of Europe. But he did not do so alone. The task was so enormous, complex, time-consuming, and mentally and economically demanding that it took the best efforts of millions of Germans... All spheres of life in Germany actively participated: Businessmen, policemen, bankers, doctors, lawyers, soldiers, railroad and factory workers, chemists, pharmacists, foremen, production managers, economists, manufacturers, jewelers, diplomats, civil servants, propagandists, film makers and film stars, professors, teachers, politicians, mayors, party members, construction experts, art dealers, architects, landlords, janitors, truck drivers, clerks, industrialists, scientists, generals, and even shopkeepers—all were essential cogs in the machinery that accomplished the final solution.”

Abortion, like the Jewish Holocaust, is not the responsibility solely of the politicians; it’s all Americans who believe in control and choice and living their lives selfishly. Abortion takes the scheming of all selfish Americans to continue this holocaust.

Hitler believed in the Darwinist philosophy, “Survival of the Fittest”, which happens to be the underlying philosophy of the Pro-Choicers. But the thing is: just because you can kill a baby in the womb doesn’t mean you should. That’s right: sometimes the fittest aren’t always right. Was Hitler right? Just because a mother is physically stronger than a baby in the womb doesn’t give that mother the right to kill her baby. Being “fit” is not a blank check to kill whoever you want. What does the fit person prove by murdering an innocent baby? That he is “fitter” than an innocent baby? Wow. Are people that insecure with themselves as to want to fight a baby in the womb? Given enough time in the past, you were that baby in the womb. And, given enough time you will be in a nursing home. At any of those two points does it give someone else the right to kill you? No.

Another example, in the 1950’s, Josef Stalin, also, deemed that 23 million of his own Russian/Ukrainian citizens were unfit to live (or to be a part of his grand State) and thus he let them die in a massive famine. In addition, Mao Tse Tung, also, murdered between 49 million and 78 million of his own people because they weren’t worth anything to him. Likewise, Leopold II of Belgium, likewise, murdered 8 million Africans in the Congo, because making money was more important than a “lower race”.

The killing of a baby in the womb is no different. It essentially says, “My plan for my life is greater than your right to live. And, I am going to do whatever I can to stop you from intruding in on my life.”

Truth #3: Abortion is Slavery

Pro-Choicers try to make abortion into a political issue (so they can get it out from the realm of morality and religion). This isn’t a political issue any more than the Holocaust was a political issue. Abortion is a moral issue. When 60 million lives are being snuffed out, it’s a moral issue.

Pro-Choicers in the Southern United States, about 175 years ago were also trying to define slavery as a political issue. They would say what Pro-Choicers say today: “Don’t like Slavery? Then don’t have one.” Pro-Choicers back then didn’t care about the people they were hurting; nor do they care today. Nineteenth-Century Pro-Choicers wanted to keep the slaves (for making money). It’s ironic, that today, Pro-Choicers do not want to keep their babies (to keep their freedom).

To say that slavery is only a political issue is to miss the point. Slavery (like today’s sex-slavery) is about forcing a human life to do something he has no control over. Slavery is about stripping all freedoms away from another individual to suit your own needs. Today, Americans say the slavery trade was despicable as it took the rights and lives away from millions of black people. But how can Americans look at the baby in the womb and say that taking that baby’s freedoms away is OK?

The two viewpoints between Pro-Choice and Pro-Life can be reworded as: Pro-Rights VS. Pro-Life, or Pro-Freedom VS. Pro-Life; Pro-Career VS. Pro-Children

In addition, Pro-Choicers would like to label Pro-Lifers as Pro-Slavery. Let’s look at this accusation. Pro-Choicers say Pro-Lifers (what they call Pro-Slavery) don’t care about the rights of women. Really? Pro-Lifers don’t want anyone to be enslaved to their sin. Pro-Lifers are against slavery of any kind—especially for women to be enslaved to their guilty conscience for the rest of their lives. That is a slavery that can never be erased. Pro-Choicers are, in fact, Pro-Slavery in that they don’t care what kind of guilt a woman has to deal with after the abortion. They just want the short-term benefits of not having to deal with a new, unplanned baby; but they trade in their short-term benefits for a life-long guilty conscience that says, “I killed my own baby.” Women are never the same after abortion.

Pro-Choicers seek to label children as a slavery to uphold their “right to abort”. Are children really a slavery? It’s a joy and a pleasure to have children. I don’t know what kind of homes these Pro-Choicers grew up in, but they know nothing about loving and sacrificing for another. They know nothing about leading and teaching a child through life so he can grow up into a responsible, loving adult. Children are not to be considered slavery. No one should be robbed of their right to have children.

Truth #4: Life is Better Than Death

If you were to have asked any number of peasants in Russia under the Lenin-Stalin regime if they deserved a choice to live or die, I'm sure they would have chosen life over death. If the Jews in the Auschwitz concentration camp were asked if they deserved a choice, they would have chosen life. If the blacks on the slave ships to North America were offered a choice between life or death, I'm sure they would have chosen life over death.

The baby in the womb is no different. That baby deserves a choice to live; a choice to breathe. The baby deserves a vote to live. Just because the baby can't speak for himself does not give any one the right to snuff out a weaker person's life. The ability to speak for himself has no bearing on his freedom (or the lack of it). To murder a baby (because he can't defend himself) is as ridiculous as murdering:

- Homeless People (because of their poverty)
- Mental Patients (because of their inability to think clearly)
- Handicapped People (because of their non-contribution to society)
- Black People (because of the color of their skin)
- Christians (because of the God they believe in)
- Autistic Children (because they have no real future)
- Elderly People (because their days are numbered)
- Cancer Patients (because they are incurable)

No excuse or justification is good enough to allow murdering a baby. Even if the baby was a "mistake" or "wasn't planned" or "is useless", it doesn't matter. What matters is doing what is right.

It should be obvious that life is better than death, but apparently this society needs to be reminded of this simple truth.

Truth #5: Mislabeled: Calling Evil “Good”

To kill a baby because our government “allows you to” opens up the door to murder anyone for any reason. Think about it: if someone lives a life that you disagree with, you could simply just shoot them and be justified to do it (based on abortion law). Abortion law has opened up a whole new case law that says convenience trumps life. If someone inconveniences you, you now have the right to murder them.

But does inconvenience necessitate the murder of that individual? If you disagree with someone, does that necessitate murder? How about if you get bad service at a restaurant?

Does that justify murder of the waitress? Of course not. Murder is allowed never. And God would agree with that. To God, life is so precious. He created life. For someone to take a person’s life because it was “convenient to do so” is the ultimate rebellion against God. It doesn’t matter what laws or politicians Pro-Choicers have on their side; they can never make abortion “right” even if it is “legal”.

To degrade a baby to the status of “fetus” or a “blob” makes it easier to murder a baby doesn’t it? It’s interesting in that what society has done to God (i.e. pretending He doesn’t exist, pushing him back in time and space), society has also done to the baby in womb (i.e. because I can’t see you, I’ll pretend that you don’t exist and get rid of you).

The degrading of a person is not a new concept, however. In fact, it is a technique that Hitler used. To get the German people to agree with his Jewish holocaust he first had to declare Jews as “less than human”. Once a person is a non-person, it makes it very effective to get rid of that person.

In Mein Kampf, Hitler wrote of the Jews: "...the personification of the devil as the symbol of evil assumes the living shape of the Jew." He also wrote, "Hence today I believe that I am acting in accordance with the will of the Almighty Creator: 'by defending myself against the Jew, I am fighting for the work of the Lord.'" Once an enemy is demonized, it rationalizes all means to get rid of the demon, doesn't it?

"Convenience". "Freedom". "Strength". "Because You Can". These are the phrases Pro-Choicers use to justify the taking of a life. But, you can never declare something evil as good. You can never put a band-aid on a stage 4 cancerous tumor and declare it "healed". You can never take a bottle of arsenic and label it as "orange juice".

You know, there are lawsuits and jail time for products that are mislabeled. What kind of punishment do you think God would use for mislabeling? Interestingly enough, God does have something to say about mislabeling. He addresses those people who call good things evil (life) and evil things good (abortion). It's found in the Book of Isaiah 5:20-25:

"You know, there are lawsuits, fines and jail time for corporations that mislabel consumer goods. What kind of punishment do you think God would use for mislabeling? Interestingly enough, God does have something to say about mislabeling. He addresses those people who call good things evil (life) and evil things good (abortion) in the Book of Isaiah:

"Woe unto them that call evil good, and good evil; that put darkness for light, and light for darkness; that put bitter for sweet, and sweet for bitter! Woe unto them that are wise in their own eyes, and prudent in their own sight... Which justify the wicked for reward, and take away the righteousness of the righteous from him! Therefore is the anger of the LORD kindled against his people, and he hath stretched forth his hand against them, and hath smitten them." (verses 5:20-21,22b,25a)

God hates when an evil action is held up as a good action. He hates when good actions are vilified as evil. Abortion is one of those things that has been held up by government and society as “good” even though it is clearly an evil act according to God.

Truth #6: Abortion is Amoral

Most Americans will tell you that they are moral people. They “live a moral life”, they “don’t hurt anybody else”, they “believe in morals and being moral.” However, most Americans, when discussing the baby in the womb, somehow forget all their morality. Somehow morality, when given to a baby in a womb (that they can’t see), goes out the window. For example, Pro-Choice Americans ask, “Doesn’t a woman have a right to choose to kill her baby? Doesn’t the government allow for this?” and I would answer, “Doesn’t God have a right to define what is right or wrong? Doesn’t a baby have a right to life?” I wasn’t aware that we could determine our own morality or the length of someone’s life.

Abortion is a convenience, an excuse for selfish, fornicating, amoral men and women. When you look at abortion from the baby’s perspective, what do you see other than a murder taking place? Pro-Choicers can only see abortion from the woman’s perspective and all they see is their “rights” taken away if they can’t terminate a pregnancy. Since when is anyone free to murder another person? Is the life of another person up for grabs? Is the life of a person a commodity—you know, something to be traded on the NYSE?

Americans like to be “understanding” and “tolerant” to others. Well then, I would ask that all Americans look at abortion through the lens of the baby in the womb. Once done, abortion becomes clear for what it is: an amoral of murder.

The ironic thing is that the baby isn't asking for any extraneous, outlandish rights; he is just asking for the right to live. Likewise, the people in Uganda or Venezuela would have asked for that same simple, basic right as the baby in the womb. But, tragically, instead, they were denied that right by murderous, amoral and selfish people who had a "choice" to let them live or not.

It's easy for those who have life to take the lives away from others, isn't it? It's easy for those who have power to crush those weaker than them. Just because you can snuff out a life doesn't mean you should. Morals aren't based on feelings-in-the-moment. Right and wrong is universal, regardless of circumstances. Governments, likewise are designed (by God) to protect life; not snuff it out. Who needs over-seas terrorists when we kill our own Americans with our laws?

Let me ask you a question: where do morals come from? Are morals something that anyone can make up as they go? Or are morals concrete no matter what? Are morals relative or absolute? The answer lies in God. All things come from Him and because we are made in His image, we know right from wrong. We all have a moral compass. Unfortunately, that moral compass is broken in all of us (as we are all sinners). Morality is something that needs to be constantly fought for. That's why Pro-Choicers and Pro-Lifers exist; one creates morality (abortion) as it suits them. The other says abortion is wrong regardless.

If everyone has a different view on morality, then who is right? We all can't be right. Actions are either wrong or right. Hitler said morality was relative and murdering Jews was OK. Other Germans said murdering Jews was wrong. Who's right? Without God's Law, morality is a joke. Morality will always be warped and molded to suit ourselves. Abortion can be justified a thousand different ways; but it will never nullify God's Law. Morality is from Him alone and it never changes.

Truth #7: Life is Sacred

On October 14, 1987, an 18-month old girl named Jessica McClure fell into a well in her aunt's backyard. For the next 58 hours, hundreds of rescue workers in Midland, Texas worked around the clock to rescue her 22 feet below the ground. The entire rescue effort was broadcast live across the world, and the world waited to see whether she would be rescued in time (and she was). It should be evident that life—even the life of an 18-month old girl is sacred.

A human life—whether mentally retarded, autistic, handicapped, elderly, baby, riddled with cancer—has intrinsic value in itself regardless of its productivity. In other words, the value of a human life is valuable in itself. Why? Because every human is made in the image of God.

For all of science's advances, no life has ever been created from raw materials. Life is so precious, in fact, that Science doesn't even know where to start when it comes to creating life. God is the Creator of life and it seems that society has forgotten that. People aren't very good at creating life, but they are good at destroying it. Much like a terrorist: it's easier to destroy a building than it is to construct one.

Life isn't sacred anymore in this world. That's why there so many suicides, school shootings and murders everyday. Americans have been brainwashed into thinking there is a choice when it comes to life. According to the Bible, God makes and takes life; not man. And if man acts in the place of God, his punishment is to have his life taken.

What Americans don't realize is that once its most innocent members are allowed to be murdered, then everyone can be murdered. Once Pro-Choice for babies became the norm, then Pro-Choice for everyone became the norm. Everyone was up for grabs at that point. We are living in the Post-Abortion age, where everyone is disposable. Life, for every American, can be shortened by anyone else who calls themselves Pro-Choice.

Everyone deserves a chance at life. The fact that the baby in the womb is alive is a miracle. Conception is taken for granted. But it's inexplicable how an egg and a sperm can make a baby. In fact, in April 2016, researchers at Northwestern University filmed a microscopic spark at the moment of conception. The spark, they discovered, is caused when the sperm successfully implants into the egg and the egg releases massive amounts of zinc. The beginning of life literally begins with a spark! It's completely mind-boggling. A baby is something that is the work of God. God created us in our mother's womb the Bible says (Psalm 139).

Pro-Choicers like to make the argument and distinguish between "potential life of a fetus" vs. the "actual life of a mother". The baby in the womb is just as alive as the person outside of the womb. A liquid or air environment doesn't make a person any less living. Likewise, value isn't based on size. Just because a person is smaller than you, or less developed than you, doesn't make that person less valuable than you. Since when do grown adults beat up on little children? I thought America was against bullying with all her anti-bullying laws. So, quit bullying the babies in the womb. Abortion is the ultimate act of child-abuse. The Pre-Born are just as valuable as you are. The Pre-Born are just as made in the image of God as you are.

No baby should be deprived of the beauty of this world. To take away the life of a person in the womb is to follow in the footsteps of Stalin, Mao Tse Tung and Osama Bin Laden. They, too, preyed on the weak, the poor and the helpless.

Pro-Choicers like to imagine a world where life is not the only option. But that kind of world (whether through euthanasia, genocide, murder or abortion) only becomes a world ruled by death. A world without life is a dead world. Just like an immoral America is a dead America. Once babies are disposable; everyone is. Once the most innocent among us is discarded like trash; we all are considered "trash" and ready for the dump heap. Who needs terrorists when we have our own American “Freedom Fighters” destroying Americans right under our noses?

There is an excellent Bible passage that describes the Pro-Choicers and Pro-Lifers right next to each other. In Genesis 9:6 God says, “Whoso sheddeth man’s blood, by man shall his blood be shed: for in the image of God made he man.” That’s the Pro-Choice movement, and, in the very next verse (v.7), He describes the Pro-Life movement: “And you, be ye fruitful, and multiply; bring forth abundantly in the earth, and multiply therein.” God is Pro-Life. If He wasn’t, He would have never created mankind. Pro-Choice steps in where there is life and says, “You know there are other options besides life.” That statement echoes back to what Satan said in the Garden of Eden: “And he (Satan) said unto the woman, Yea, hath God said, Ye shall not eat of every tree of the garden? . . . Ye shall not surely die”(Genesis 3:1,4)

Some may ask, “Why is God so against abortion?” Because God is against murder. Murder, by definition, is simply the taking of a life that is not yours to take. No one has the right to take anyone’s life. God alone creates and gives life. Only He can take life away. Pro-Choicers think they are above His law (that’s why they create man’s law to overthrow God’s law). Abortion is rebellion against God’s Law. Abortion is the theft of life. We have thousands of laws in this country regarding stealing cars, pirated music, patents, kidnapping children, reputation (libel), plagiarism, etc. But no laws protect against the theft of life in the womb. If a life is outside of the womb, it’s protected (because it’s called murder). But if that life is inside a pregnant woman, forget it.

God is Pro-Life. He created life. Life is a gift from God; not a punishment. Life is a blessing from God; not a curse. Only the Giver can take it back. Fellow recipients of life have no jurisdiction to steal the life of another, whether inside or outside the womb.

Truth #8: "Overpopulation"

The philosophies of Pro-Choice advocates can be traced back to Animal-Rights activists, particularly regarding stray cats and dogs. Their philosophy went something like this: "Unwanted kittens and puppies should be stopped from growing up on the street and/or being killed by cars." Thus a plan was created to neuter and spay everyone's pets. Billboards and signs were made: "Don't litter. Neuter and spay your pets". Well, the same philosophy was taken from the pet world into the human world: unwanted babies were only "littering" an already over-crowded world, thus they were to be stopped from coming into the world.

Pro-Choicers, like Animal-Rights activists, promoted birth control (i.e. the neutering and spaying of humans). They claimed that we shouldn't be "littering" and should prevent more unwanted children coming into the world. They said that the world "couldn't hold any more people" and that we were "in danger of becoming extinct."

Opposed to the Animal-Rights activists, birthing babies isn't considered littering. Birthing babies is a God-ordained ordinance when He said, "Be fruitful and multiply." (Gen 1:22) Babies are the next generation. They are our heritage. They will be here a lot longer than we are.

Nonetheless, the Overpopulation Advocates create panic among Pro-Choicers to believe that the earth is running out of space! They conveniently ignore the fact that all of the world's population could fit inside the land mass of Texas. Did you know, for example, that if 7,494,271,488,000 sq ft (Texas' land mass) were divided by 7 Billion people, the answer would be 1070.61 sq ft per 1 person (approximately a 33' x 33' plot of land)? Families of 4 would have about a 66' x 66' plot of land: enough room for a house and yard.

Just because Pro-Choicers want to spay/neuter themselves, doesn't mean the rest of the world wants to (or needs to). Suffice it to say that there is no such thing as overpopulation. It's only the cities that are crowded; go out to the country and look at the vast expanse of land available. Overpopulation is a myth and it is just a justification used by Pro-Choicers. If Pro-Choicers really wanted to "help the environment" and "feed the poor" then they would do better in attacking Communistic and atheistic governments (that keep food from their people).

Pro-Choicers say there is no space for the Pre-Born, though they themselves have been given space. Pro-Choicers use their breath against those who have no breath. They use their strength against those who have no strength. They spend their lives taking away the lives of others. It is the height of hypocrisy for a Pro-Choice woman to use her beating heart to keep others' hearts from beating, to use her hands against those who have never grasped, to use her feet against those who have never walked. It is pure selfishness for a woman to enjoy the earth that God has created, keep it to herself, and keep her unborn child from experiencing this earth.

Truth #9: Animal Rights vs. BabyRights

In 2007, Michael Vick, the NFL quarterback, was convicted of operating an illegal inter-state dog-fighting ring in Virginia. He pleaded guilty to hanging and drowning between 6-8 dogs—dogs that didn't perform well. He served 21 months in federal prison for his felonies. The animal rights activists were outraged by his crime. Mr. Vick's crime was atrocious. There is no doubt about that. No one has the right to torture, abuse and murder any of God's creatures. So, within that context, I ask: why is abortion still legal in this country? If the murder of 6-8 dogs warrants 21 months of prison time, then how come the murder of an innocent pre-born baby warrants nothing? It is this double-standard that is sickening.

When animals have more rights than babies, there is a problem. Animals are treated as gods in America with their mobile grooming trucks, organic food, in-house bathing stations, clothing and full-service doggie day care centers, million-dollar pet adoption centers, stores devoted to pets, millions in pet-adoption advertising. Meanwhile babies continue being slaughtered in every deathcamp across America. G.K. Chesterton once said, “Wherever there is animal worship there is human sacrifice.” (The Uses of Diversity)

I sit back and wonder: where are the billboards against baby-abuse? Why are pets treasured and Pre-Born children ignored? It’s sad to me that there are more pet-adoption centers, pet grooming stores and mobile pet spas than there are crisis pregnancy centers. It’s disgusting that a pet can have a pedicure while babies are being butchered on a daily basis.

One last thing to consider: how would the Pro-Choicers feel if a man started killing dogs and cats (stray or not) because he felt that “birth control just wasn’t doing enough”? Wouldn’t that be sick? That’s what abortion does. It says, birth control isn’t doing enough to stop the number of births a year, so we will offer a fail-proof, turn-key solution that will bring the number of births down for sure.

Truth #10: Motherhood is Good

No woman should be robbed of the joy of holding her baby in her arms. Abortionists rob women from enjoying motherhood. But, it’s a willing theft. It’s a theft-for-hire scenario.

Motherhood is good, right and just. God created females to become mothers. In fact the very first commandment from God, to Adam and Eve, was to procreate. “So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them. And God blessed them, and God said unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it. . .” (Gen 1:27-28a).

God designed girls to become mothers. Little girls dream of the day that they will be married and have children; no little girl dreams of the day she terminates her child in the womb. In fact she longs for the day to be a mother; not a murderer. That doesn't mean it's easy to be a mother; in fact it's really hard to be a mother. Especially if life hasn't happened "the way it should have". Being a mother is hard work; but satisfying. Laziness is not an option for mothers (whether single or married). Raising kids is hard work.

To abort, and go against God's created order is to hurt yourself. Women who kill their babies in the womb will never know the satisfaction of being a mother. They've willingly been robbed of that joy. So, why would a mother allow herself to be robbed like that? I think one of the reasons is that girls aren't taught how to be mothers in this society.

Oh, they are taught how to dress and act like harlots, but being a mother is not in the conversation. Motherhood is frowned upon, actually. That's why when an unprepared teenager gets pregnant (or a twenty year old)—it's a scary proposition to be "having a baby". So scary in fact, that some women aren't willing to be a hero and live up to the task (and abort their baby). The other women, who keep their babies, are the true heroes. Those women are the ones this world hates because they did what others weren't willing to do. (so they have to ridicule motherhood).

Those who embrace motherhood, and follow God's design for women (i.e. "womb"an) will have the most fulfilling life. Even if pregnancy happened out of wed-lock, God has the means to turn the worst circumstances into the best ones.

Here are a few thoughts for mothers to consider:

- Motherhood is heroic and noble. It's cowardly to abort your baby.
- Shouldn't mothers use their power to love their baby rather than destroy their baby?
- Mothers raise the leaders of tomorrow. Don't Abort the Leaders.

- Real mothers birth Their Babies. Horrible mothers abort their babies.
- Don't denigrate your duty to become a mom. There is no higher calling.
- Pregnancy isn't your time to "take your life back". It's time to give your life to your baby
- Pregnant mothers should not be Indian Givers to their babies
- The body inside your uterus is not your body. It is a child that is completely reliant upon you
- De-parenting yourself is the worst mistake you could ever make
- Abortive mothers let their burden fall on their child rather than on themselves
- Abortion is the antithesis of Medicine, Health Care, Women's Rights and Women's Health

Mothers want to be good moms. But our society pushes moms to want to be "perfect" moms. If a mom can't be a "perfect mom" then she quits and doesn't even try. Abortion is all about throwing in the towel, right before the big game. The mentality goes something like: "I'll never be able to be a perfect mom to this child, so I'll just abort the baby. Maybe in a few years I'll be in a more perfect place and be more of a perfect mom to have a baby." How ridiculous. If women waited till they were perfect to have a child, there would be no children on earth. Motherhood isn't about perfection; it's about love and sacrifice for your baby.

If perfection is the American woman's dream then abortion makes that woman fail miserably. It is much more cruel to murder your child than to sacrifice your life for your baby. Infanticide, though convenient in the moment, is never noble. Infanticide creates a momentary solution to a "problem". But that problem only exists in women's heads (i.e. I can't handle a baby right now). Every mother has been there. Every mother feels inadequate to raise a child. It doesn't matter what age the mother is or what race she is. Motherhood is a heavy, important duty. There is no higher calling for women than to be mothers. It is daunting. It is taxing to a mother. But as self-sacrificing and hard as motherhood is, a good mother would never abort her baby.

Abortive mothers are the opposite of good mothers. They let the burden fall on their baby rather than on themselves. They say "my life is worth more than your life". Abortion is the epitome of selfishness: I'm going to live my life regardless of anyone relying on me.

Women who sacrifice and birth their babies (regardless of their circumstances) are heroes in my book. They are heroes in God's book. Women who take the easy way out and abort are the villains.

Truth #11: Career Mothers and the Economy

Mothers who work in the corporate world work hard. There is no doubt about that. There is a lot of sacrifice a mother has to give to work outside of the home and then come home and raise her children. The American mindset is to keep these kinds of mothers in a hamster-wheel mentality: more work = more money. More money = more things. More things = more happiness.

However, a hard-working mother, if found to be pregnant, still has no excuse to abort her child.

Women's contribution to the workplace, or to the American economy, is negligible compared to the pain and suffering her abortions have wrought on those around her.

It should be obvious that corporations employ women of respect; not those who have murdered their own children. Employees that are honest, caring and self-sacrificing are what corporations look for (and abortive mothers make poor employees). If a woman is willing to murder her own child to keep her job or move up a corporate ladder, you don't think she will be willing to steal from her employer?

If the American economy fell apart tomorrow because women left the workplace to take care of their children, then I would say let it collapse. I'd rather have an honest, poverty-level American GDP than one built on the backs of aborted babies. If it takes abortive mothers to prop up the stock market, then I say let the stock market crash. America doesn't need blood money. Blood, sweat and tears—from adults—should be the only sacrifice propping up the economy. Abortion will never stimulate the economy. So, why should the burden of our national economy fall on babies in the womb? Why should the American Dream steal the dreams of babies?

Truth #12: Terrorism and 60 Million Deaths

What's the difference between a terrorist and an abortion doctor? Nothing. A terrorist kills innocent people; an abortionist kills innocent people. One does it for religio-political reasons; the other does it because it's his job. But no matter what scenario, dead people are the result.

Take 9/11 for instance. That was a horrific day as 2,985 Americans lost their lives in three aircraft crashes. But, today, every day 3,600 Americans babies are killed inside their mother's womb. There is a 9/11 every day in America since 1973. In the year 2000 alone, more children died from abortion than Americans died in the Revolutionary War, the Civil War, World Wars I and II, the Korean, Vietnam and Gulf Wars combined (that's 151 per hour, one every 24 seconds).

What does 60 million babies really mean, though? One million, as a number, is a huge number. There are thousands of millionaires in the world, but most

people will never see a million dollars in their lives. If I were to give you a dollar for every baby that has been aborted, you would have 60 million dollars in the bank. That's a lot of money. That's a lot of dead babies that didn't have to die. That's a lot of babies who would be adults and teenagers now. That's a lot of doctors and teachers and musicians and basketball players missing. That's a lot of cures for cancer, beautiful music and technological advances missing. That's a lot of the American workforce missing. See, abortion doesn't just affect the mother; it affects the whole socio-political realm for generations. 60 million isn't a number to scoff at. It's more than what Hitler did.

Terrorists justify their actions as "right, just and good". They justify fighting the "oppressor" to have a better life. Abortionists justify their actions as "right, just and good" because they have a job that pays well. They justify their career-path as "just following the law". Abortive mothers justify their actions as "right, just and good" because "my baby is a nuisance and will upset my plans". All three of these parties (terrorists, abortionists and abortive mothers) all justify the killing of innocent people for different reasons.

In other words, one's idol is political freedom, one's idol is career and one's idol is freedom; but innocent people are simply "in the way" for all three parties and must be murdered. Innocent people weren't even involved in the blocking of political freedom, stopping a lucrative medical career or blocking freedom, but nonetheless they must die.

Here's the thing: those who seek to do evil will always hold up a good thing (i.e. political freedom, career freedom, life freedom) above a higher good (life of an innocent person). Political freedom, career freedom and life freedom are good things; but they aren't so good as to murder innocent people over. Human life is so much more valuable than any of those so called freedoms. And, honestly, if one was to examine each of those freedoms more closely, they simply are the worship of materialism and money.

Truth #13: LGBT's and Abortion

Here is an interesting question: try to find someone who is Pro-Choice who is also anti-gay. You would be hard pressed to find that person. Why? Because the Pro-Choicers say, "What I do with my own body is my own business" and the LGBT movement says exactly the same thing. Proponents for Pro-Choice can't condemn the LGBT-rights movement or else they would be condemning themselves. Pro-Choice and LGBTs have to go together.

And they do go together! Both Pro-Choicers and LGBTs consider children a burden. Both movements are also considered "birth control" by their proponents. The homosexual couple that "wants to adopt" is really a small minority; most homosexuals can't stand children. That's why homosexuals love to support the Pro-Choice movement: supporting Pro-Choicers validates their own lifestyle as an "alternative" lifestyle.

As LGBT's gains in acceptance, so will abortion. Homosexuality, by definition, will never lead to children. Heterosexuals who conceive, and then abort, also lead to no children. Both outcomes are the same: no children being born.

Truth #14: Environmentalism and Fund-Raising

It's ironic to me that liberals will care about trees (environmentalism) but won't care about the Pre-Born, you know, the Pre-Born humans being slaughtered everyday. It's almost like the guilt gets to the abortive women and politicians so much so that they have to do good somewhere in the world. So they plant trees, recycle, donate to the WWF, they walk for Breast Cancer and have bake sales for diabetes, etc. But none of these things address the murder of babies in our culture.

Why do people love endangered plants more than the Pre-Born? Why don't people love the Pre-Born rather than Kangaroo rats? It's amazing to me that animal lovers will cry over an endangered animal but will never cry for the 3,000 babies being murdered every day in this country. I'd rather have less trees and less whales in the world if the babies were saved.

Environmentalists believe that they will make a perfect world by having a clean world, free of toxins, full of species that thrive, etc. That may be true to some extent, but without babies, there won't be anyone around to enjoy this "perfect world".

Truth be told, any trees that are saved by people will never love them back. Any kangaroo rats saved from extinction, as great as that is, those animals will never love those environmentalists back. Babies, on the other will. Babies will love their parents unconditionally. Being a parent is more important than helping endangered species. The rainforests can wait. Save the babies.

Truth #15: The Guilt of Murder

Is abortion really a choice? I mean, is murder really an option? When you look at another person (with such hatred for them for intruding upon your life) is murder really considered in that person's heart? Apparently, in America, murder really is a choice (that can be made without legal consequences). But, despite what the Pro-Choicers try to ignore, murdering your own baby does have consequences.

The big elephant in the room that Pro-Choicers pretend doesn't exist is guilt, namely life-long guilt that will plague you for the rest of your life. Aborting mothers can tell themselves all the justifications of "why they did what they did" and it won't mean a hill of beans. Abortion "solved" one problem and created a thousand more in its wake.

Despite what Pro-Choicers market, abortion is not a get out jail free card. Women who abort have to live with the guilt of murder for the rest of their lives. That guilt can and does become suffocating. Aborting a baby is never “done and over with”. That one event will last for the rest of their lives as they think about how old their child would be. Or, as they wonder if it was a boy or a girl.

How does this mother sleep at night, knowing that she willingly terminated the life of her own offspring? How could she pull the trigger, knowing that there are thousands of couples who can never get pregnant and would love to adopt? That is just the definition of selfish murderer; one who will bear the shame and guilt for the rest of her life.

Truth #16: Abortion and the Worship of Science

Pro-Choicers believe this statement: “If I get pregnant, I’ll just abort the baby.” In other words, there is “always a solution to the problems I cause”. Women can sleep around, be unfaithful to men, get pregnant, and still have an out. Abortion takes away the natural consequence of loose-living: a baby. Having a “solution” provides the impetus for sin. Rather than putting their faith in one loving husband, women would rather put their faith in science (i.e. abortion) when “things get bad”.

Science is the god Pro-Choicers worship; the abortionists are their priests. The abortion religion is really a poor choice for a religion. One of the tenants of the abortion religion is the theory of macro-evolution (Darwinism). Evolution is simply naturalism, meaning all that exists can be felt by the 5 senses. Those who believe in evolution, like most Pro-Choicers, simply believe that people are physical beings.; there is no soul. So, the abortion of a baby is simply the destruction of physical matter; not anything else. But the truth is is that every physical human body has a soul. God has designed it that way. He connected the physical with the non-physical. When a baby is murdered, the body is destroyed and the soul goes back to God. That shouldn't relieve anyone's conscience from murder, though, because no one has the right to separate body from soul. No one has the right to send a soul back to God. No one has the right to destroy a life or a body.

Science pretends to have all the answers to life's problems. Do you have an unwanted baby in your womb, well, Science is there to help! Do you know why Down's Syndrome statistics have gone down in children? Is it because science has created new ways to prevent Down's Syndrome? No! It's because Down's Syndrome babies are aborted! It's a fact that when prenatal testing reveals a potential birth defect, over 90% of parents choose to abort. As soon as a mother finds out that her precious baby in the womb isn't "perfect", that baby is destroyed. It's not because of any scientific advances that we don't see a lot of Down's Syndrome children around town; it's because a whole generation is missing.

Abortion is a hack for an unwanted pregnancy. Unfortunately, the hack eventually breaks and judgment still falls. It would be less-painful had the woman just given birth. What women don't realize is that aborting their baby will never get rid of their guilt of loose-living; it won't abolish their sin. It only heaps more guilt on them. Murder can never cover up sexual immorality. Much like a gastric bypass mentality (i.e. a food-worshipping life) –abortion won't fix the inside of a person (i.e. a lust-worshipping life). What it does leave in it's path is a destroyed mother and a murdered baby. "There's always an escape for getting pregnant" –really?

Not if the escape is worse than the circumstances you're in now.

The abortionists want women to believe that they will "be there for them" when everything falls apart" (i.e. when they get pregnant). Abortionists say they won't let women down. "Put your faith in us", they say. But after the abortion, the abortionist is no where to be found. He is not there to comfort the broken-hearted. No scientist is there to take away a woman's guilt. Science fails to deliver a real solution. Science, regarding abortion, cannot cure a dark, sinful heart. Sleeping around is just around the corner for an unredeemed heart. And the cycle continues. Only Jesus can take a woman out of this vicious cycle. Women need to quit putting their faith in science and put their faith in Him. He is the solution to any dark heart; He is the real solution to real guilt and real consequences.

Truth #17: Works-Based Relationships

Any mother who aborts her child (“because she can”) shows that she would have never loved her child to begin with. Let me explain. The reason abortions are done by women is because the baby can’t support itself. The baby is helpless. The baby needs constant nurturing, care, and attention. The mother obviously sees that the baby won’t nurture and care and attend to himself, so she chooses to kill the baby. What do you call that mentality? It’s called a works-based relationship. The baby obviously couldn’t perform (or be made useful to the mother), therefore she kills him.

The baby couldn’t help the mother around the house—so she kills him. The baby couldn’t earn money or do chores for the mother—therefore, she kills him. The baby—whom the mother hasn’t even met—is already put into a works-based relationship (a hopeless situation) and unbeknownst to himself, is perceived worthless to the mother and is aborted.

News flash: babies, by nature, are helpless. Babies don’t produce anything for the mother. Babies don’t help around the house or earn a paycheck. Maybe these mothers should have thought about having a baby first before throwing him into a works-based relationship.

Works-based relationships don’t work with babies. Babies simply won’t perform. So, a mother either accepts that responsibility to nurture and care for the child—or, sadly, she chooses to abrogate her responsibility and kills her own offspring. How sad. A baby can't even be himself in this murderous world. How sad, that there is no room in this world for a helpless baby (just like in Bethlehem 2,000 years ago). How sad, that a baby's value is based on works—and not love.

Truth #18: Aztecs and Americans

The Aztec Empire (or, Aztec Triple Alliance) were a people who ruled large regions of Meso-America, particularly Lake Texcoco, from 1427 to 1519 (just before Cortés and the conquistadors arrived). Their religion was central to all aspects of life, so much so that they offered human sacrifice to a pantheon of gods (i.e. Quetzalcoatl, Tlaloc, Mixcoatl, etc.) Exact figures are unknown as to how many men, women and children were sacrificed in the history of the Aztecs, but according to Ross Hassing, “between 10,000 and 80,400 persons” were sacrificed over the course of four days for the dedication of the Great Pyramid in 1487. Eyewitness accounts and historical documents provide insight into the complex ritual of sacrificing a human to a god.

Aztecs (and other Meso-American peoples like the Mayans) would sacrifice their children to the “sun-god”—a god that doesn't exist (except inside their head). They would lay their children on the altar and kill them by brutal means for a god that they thought was real. Today, we all know that the sun-god, Huitzilopochtli, doesn't really exist. Their killing of their own children was a senseless act of violence that they will have to answer to the real God for. Hundreds of thousands of Aztecs died for a god that never existed and gods that never asked for innocent blood.

But, today, we Americans don't believe in the “sun god”. We're enlightened; we're smart. We're too intelligent for that stupidity. We don't believe in made-up gods or fantasies—we believe in ourselves! We believe in the career-god, the freedom-god the lust-god! Basically, the gods that America worships are the things America enjoys: sex, entertainment, money, etc. They are the gods that we promote with bumper stickers. And, like the Aztecs, we must sacrifice our children to the God of ME. Americans kill their own children so they can: move forward with their career, live their own life, continue in their selfish, sinful and lustful ways.

Abortion is human sacrifice. Just like the Aztecs, Americans murder their children by means of the fast, easy and affordable solution called abortion. Just because Americans aren't laying the child on the altar and ripping his heart out—doesn't mean that babies lives aren't being murdered. Americans are just as uncivilized, idolatrous and murderous as the Aztecs were. (As if the real mark of a civilized society is the amount of innocent people are killed, i.e. “we are such a free people that we can kill whomever we want”). That kind of thinking is Aztec thinking.

Psalm 106:36-38 says about the ancient Israelites, “And they served their idols: which were a snare unto them. Yea, they sacrificed their sons and their daughters unto devils, and shed innocent blood, even the blood of their sons and of their daughters, whom they sacrificed unto the idols of Canaan: and the land was polluted with blood.” That sounds like America today, doesn't it?

For a society to legalize the death of its weakest and most innocent members, means there is only death in that society's future. America is on borrowed time. The Aztec Empire came tumbling down within a few short years after enjoying peace and security for roughly 100 years. It is estimated that the population of the valley of Mexico declined more than 80% in 60 years due to a smallpox outbreak. God put an end to their human sacrifice by putting an end to their empire. Likewise, God will put an end to abortion by putting an end to America. The 60 million babies that have died at the hands of immoral women cry out to God for justice. Ban human sacrifice. Ban abortion.

Truth #19: Planned Parenthood and the De-Parenting of Parents

If there was started a non-profit that promised to rid the world of human beings (that bother you) would people support it? An organization that will bring “peace” to any one’s life; who brings “freedom”, “rights” and the “American way”. Well, people do support such an organization: Planned Parenthood.

This organization stops the beating hearts of about 1,000 babies a day and make up about one-third of all the abortion clinics in America. Founded in 1916, Planned Parenthood performs more abortions than any other single organization in America, as it is the largest abortionist in the world. In a newsletter distributed to its abortionists, Planned Parenthood said, “We see abortion as a necessary, desirable service and as an integral piece of comprehensive reproductive health care services.” Planned Parenthood’s believes that “everyone has the right to choose when or whether to have a child...” It pushes for laws and constitutional amendments that guarantee “reproductive freedom”.

Planned Parenthood has its roots in Margaret Sanger’s (1883-1966) Darwinistic, eugenics and atheistic philosophy. For example, her most famous quote on abortion: “The most merciful thing that a large family does to one of its infant members is to kill it.” (Women and the New Race Eugenics Publ. Co., 1920, 1923)

She pushed for white supremacy and extermination of the “Negro population”. She said, “We do not want word to go out that we want to exterminate the Negro population, if it ever occurs to any of their more rebellious members.” (Woman’s Body, Woman’s Right: A Social History of Birth Control in America, by Linda Gordon) Why? Because she wanted to use birth control “to create a race of thoroughbreds.” (Birth Control Review, Nov. 1921 p.2)

Sanger's mission in life was to push birth control to everyone. She didn't care about the rights of anyone to have children. She thought it was the duty of the State to control a couple's decision to have children or not. "Couples should be required to submit applications to have a child." ("Plan for Peace". Birth Control Review, April 1932)

She didn't care about mentally handicapped people, either. "More children from the fit, less from the unfit—that is the chief aim of birth control." (Birth Control Review, May 1919, p.12). In addition, in her "Plan for Peace", Sanger outlined her strategy for eradication of the "feebleminded." Among the steps included in her evil scheme were immigration restrictions; compulsory sterilization; segregation to a lifetime of farm work; etc.(Birth Control Review, April 1932, p.107)

Sanger was a sex-addict, dabbled in the occult and pushed for a socialistic, God-hating agenda. She despised the "archaic" institution of marriage. She despised the poor having children. She wanted a world filled only with white people. She wanted a utopia of women being in control and living amoral lifestyles. For example, she said concerning adultery: "A woman's physical satisfaction was more important than any marriage vow." (Birth Control in America, p.11) To her, sex was just a game and should never lead to children. She felt that having children only held women down from their true potential.

And, lest anyone think that Planned Parenthood's philosophy has changed since their founder's days, think again. Planned Parenthood pushes sexual immorality, homosexuality and any other alternative lifestyle. (Just peruse their teenwire.com website for examples). They want teens to buy the notion that sex is just a game. And if a "fetus" comes along that you can get rid of that at any point. They push a lifestyle of no consequences and sexual immorality.

What else does Planned Parenthood do? Well, Planned Parenthood sells body parts. That's a fact. They sell the parts of aborted babies and rake in even more money (on top of the original money they made off the original murder). That's like an assassin killing someone and then taking the body of his victim and making money off his body parts. So, let me get this straight: babies aren't good enough let live, but they're good enough to be used for body parts? I mean, how does an abortive mother feel that her dead baby was sold for parts? Does that make her feel good inside that her son or daughter's body was broken apart and sold separately? That baby could have been a living son or a living daughter to this mother and instead is just a bloody mangled pile of body parts. What kind of mother doesn't get upset about that?

One thing about Planned Parenthood, though, is that they are all about making money. Thousands of American corporations and state governments give to this organization. They are a non-profit (hah hah) company that offers a service (i.e. assassination) to mothers (it's clientele). It is the mothers of America who are to blame for Planned Parenthood; the mothers who have hired and allowed Planned Parenthood to get up inside their womb and kill their baby. They "got rid of the problem for me". says the post-abortion mother. That's true. But now they are using your dead baby's parts to make more money.

Think about it: your dead baby is still making this corporation money. That's like the "metal guy".that comes around in the neighborhood, driving his truck, every month or so, and offers to take your old fridge, car parts or other scrap metal that you don't need. He then goes and takes it to a metal recycler and makes some money in the process. Here's the thing: one man's junk is another man's treasure. The moment American women called their babies "junk". Planned Parenthood saw "treasure".(in body parts). As soon as women just wanted "the problem taken care of". Planned Parenthood saw opportunity. It's the labeling of the baby as "junk".that Planned Parenthood helped shape in American women. When they were calling the baby "just some tissue".they knew exactly what opinions they were forming in womens' minds; and actually they were just making future customers. They created the "problem" of the unwanted baby and (ta-daah!) they created the solution! Their solution (to making an abortion and then selling body parts) is actually hypocritical to the problem they originally proposed. They never once believed that babies were junk—they just had to make everyone else believe it. Since when does “a blob of tissue”.have “body parts”. Obviously it was never a “blob of tissue”. It was always a baby. Planned Parenthood always knew that; and America was blindsided, yet again, because they wanted their “problem taken care of”.

One last thing, Planned Parenthood is actually a non-sensical name. “Planned” would mean that you plan when, where and how to be a parent. “Parenthood” would mean that the process of parenthood would be stopped by that organization. But, by the time a woman comes into Planned Parenthood (to have an abortion), she already is a parent. All Planned Parenthood can do is de-parent her. Parenthood doesn’t start at birth (just like being human doesn’t start at birth); it starts at conception. The fertilized egg makes a mom a parent. Planned Parenthood is hypocritical even in its name.

According to their records for the 2014-2015 fiscal year, Planned Parenthood performed 323,999 abortions and received $553.7million from U.S. Taxpayers. Planned Parenthood receives 41% of all it’s funding through taxpayers. Murder pays well, especially if the government is contributing 41% of your total funding. Planned Parenthood goes against everything America stands for: freedom, morals, helping your neighbor, etc.

Planned Parenthood is a murderer and a bully. It is a humanistic, Darwinistic, government-sanctioned, criminal entity that needs to be stopped.

Truth #20: Big Pharma

Now, what is sicker than just killing a baby? It’s taking the remains of those dead babies and repackaging them into a vaccine and injecting them into adults and children. That’s just super-sick. I thought babies were useless on one hand (to kill) but on the other hand Big Pharma uses their cells and integrates them into vaccines. Or, are babies only good for what they do for you? Babies are helpless and America has turned them into molecules to help US!

All the “required” vaccines for children today happen to have recycled baby parts in them. They all have stem cells from babies. There is only one way to get pre-natal stem cells and it’s from aborted babies. It’s interesting to force children to vaccinate, on the one hand; and on the other hand keep getting an endless supply of free baby parts from mothers who don’t care. That is called good business: free supplies and huge profits. Pharmaceutical companies get almost free baby parts and then can charge an arm and a leg for vaccines.

Unfortunately, their good business is built on a heap of 60 million dead babies. The vaccine industry is built on murdered babies. Who cares about “keeping someone healthy” if it takes dead babies to make it happen. Vaccines are supposed to help people right? Well, why don’t they help the babies in the womb from being slaughtered and find other ways to create vaccines (like adult stem cells)? No. They want the babies. Babies are precious for their stem cells; precious for their DNA. They are so precious that their own mother didn’t even recognize how precious they were.

Truth #21: Just Get Rid of Imperfection

My wife was pregnant with our third child and the OB offered to abort our baby because he would “probably” have mental disabilities, a small head and more. My wife said, “No” and that we would NEVER take away what baby God was giving us. (Long story short, our baby had/has health issues, but he is alive and our beautiful son).

The cavalier attitude among doctors to “just get rid” of any imperfect child is real. Perfection is the goal. Having a perfect family is the goal of the typical American. Perfection must be sacrificed to. Funny thing is, how many abortions does it take and a woman still doesn't have her perfect family? How many abortions later will it take a woman to realize that perfection is not conceivable in this fallen world and that we have to take what we are given by almighty God?

The cliché - “everything happens for a reason” is prevalent in this society. But how many people actually believe that when it comes to having a unexpected pregnancy? Another popular cliché is “pass it forward”. How many people believe that when they are ripping their baby apart in the abortionist’s office? No one does. Pro-Choicers want their freedom to sin. And their freedom is worth sacrificing their own offspring to the idol of freedom.

Truth #22: Exporting Abortion Worldwide

Americans abort their own babies and then export abortion to other countries, too. We sterilize other nations’ women and give them “birth control”. Why sterilize other nations’ women? It’s to stop that nation from having a next generation. It’s so that the next generation won’t be there to stop America from stealing all that nation’s goods and resources. America is the great thief of the world. We want other nations’ goods and resources and are willing to abort their children, sterilize their women and give them free birth control (that’s the more peaceful war-like behavior rather than just killing them with nukes).

America doesn’t love her neighbor as herself. She wants to be the top-dog in the world. She thinks all the world’s resources are hers for the taking. When a nation is deprived of children, there is no future for that nation. That’s why American businessmen and politicians will be there to scoop up that nation as their own. It’s just sick. It’s just sad that these women in other countries want “free health care” and are unwittingly sterilized for the rest of their lives. They will never know the joy of holding a baby in their arms. They will never see their children grow up. That’s what exporting abortion to other countries does.

America has been so influential in spreading the “gospel” of abortion to the rest of the world that, now, 42% of those who die each year worldwide are murdered in the womb. (That’s 43 Million babies a year). This world doesn’t care about any future generations; the world only cares about itself. The Bible is true when it says “the love of money is the root of all evil” (1 Tim 6:10).

Truth #23: Adoption Rather Than Abortion

The termination of a life is never good. Inconvenience is a poor excuse for abortion. And for all those Pro-Choicers who say, “Well, you take the baby then! A baby shouldn’t have to grow up in an unloving home!” I would say, “I will gladly take the baby off of your hands. And so will millions of couples who love children and want to adopt.” But they never will. They’d rather destroy their baby rather than let someone else have the baby.

Couples take the good things of life (i.e. sexual intercourse) and destroy the natural outcome of that. That’s like constructing a very tall building (like the Empire State Building) and before the roof is put on, you detonate it with explosives.

I would like to ask the couples who are considering abortion: “Why don’t you give up your child to a couple of loving adoptive parents?” Why not share your precious baby with others, if you don’t want your baby? There are millions of parents who would love to adopt; some who have kids and some who can never conceive. But, regardless, they would love to have the chance to adopt children. There could be 60 million children in the arms of loving parents in America, but instead, there are 60 million coffins; not to mention millions of parents that would love to adopt but can’t.

What Pro-Choicers don’t realize is that if they don’t want their baby, someone else will gladly take their baby. In fact, they would consider it the greatest gift and an honor to be able to raise up your child. They would count it as the utmost privilege to call a child their own. To rip that chance away from an infertile couple is continue in crushing people's lives.

Truth #24: Fatherhood is Good

This essay has been geared towards women, but I have to address the millions of men that are Pro-Choice, too. Men are supposed to be the providers and husbands to women. Where are the men today? They are in front of the TV playing video games or, they're at the clubs getting women pregnant and then leaving the woman to deal with it.

It boggles the mind how a father can just up and leave his pregnant girlfriend. I understand that responsibility is scary, but seriously, this is your child, too (23 chromosomes are yours). Be a man and provide for your family! Sometimes life is hard. True. Why should your woman and child have to suffer alone why you ditch out on responsibility? The burden should fall you; not them.

Love doesn't exist in the bedroom if there is no love outside the bedroom. Do yourself a favor and commit to your woman (by marrying her). I know that this American culture is anti-man, anti-husband, pro-feminism, etc. I know that this culture teaches boys to grow up and be lazy bums while their girlfriends provide for him and the kids. Be a man. Don't be a wimp like most of American males are. Manhood has to do with stepping up and doing what is right. There are too many fatherless homes. There is too much infidelity. American men are to blame for this (as are the media and laws). Be a man and raise your own son or daughter.

Women complain about their loser boyfriends not "stepping it up" for marriage or raising children. Just because a man is a "loser" doesn't give a woman the right to abort her child. That man is just as much a parent to that child as the mother is. Give the man a chance. If he ditches out on you, well, at least you did what was right. Any woman who keeps her baby should know that God will never leave that woman. God honors all sacrifice. He will be a father to the fatherless. He will provide for those who have nothing.

It's a tragedy for a pregnant woman to think she is completely alone in the world. No one is completely alone if the Church is doing her job. Indeed, the Church condemns premarital sex but the Church should never ignore a pregnant woman needing help. It's a tragedy that pregnant women have been brought up in unforgiving homes and unforgiving churches. The Church has been put in place to help those marginalized mothers, those troubled teenagers, those young women who don't know where else to turn. If an unmarried pregnant mom can't reach out to the Church, who can she reach out to? Any true Christian loves the Pre-Born and loves pregnant women, regardless of how they got pregnant. The Church is to step into a troubled situation like that (with no father in the picture) and help that pregnant mother.

God is our Father who loves us, regardless of our mistakes. Fathers sometimes find themselves in difficult situation. It takes a real man to push through that adversity and do what is right. God should be our model for fatherhood: He gave us all He had to save us.

Truth #25: Execute the Murderer

On April 19, 1995, the Alfred P. Murrah Federal Building in Oklahoma City was bombed by Timothy McVeigh. 168 innocent people (including three pregnant mothers) were murdered in cold blood. Six years later, Timothy McVeigh was executed. He received the just punishment for his crime in this life (the death penalty). But, I ask, what kind of judgment do you think he will receive from God?

God hates the shedding of innocent blood. Genesis 9:6 says, "Whoso sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed: for in the image of God made he man.”

According to the Bible, every woman who has had an abortion deserves to be executed. God has no tolerance for murder (outside or inside the womb). Numbers 35:31 says, “Moreover ye shall take no satisfaction for the life of a murderer, which is guilty of death: but he shall be surely put to death.” God says the murderer is guilty and justice must be satisfied.

Every woman who has willingly murdered her own child by one of the many torturous ways of abortion needs to have her own life snuffed out just as easily. Perhaps she would like her skull punctured, her brains sucked out and then crushed? Perhaps she would like to die in a sea of acid? Perhaps she would like to be starved to death or her skin burned off, or suffocated or just plain ol’ decapitated? Is that too harsh of a punishment? According to Deuteronomy 19:21, it isn’t, “And thine eye shall not pity; but life shall go for life, eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot.”

Pro-Choicer boast of these abortion methods as “good” and “pain-free” for the baby. Well, what’s good for the goose is good for the gander. In God’s eyes, every abortive mother is guilty of bloodshed. There is only one future for that woman: an eternity away from God in hell.

Timothy McVeigh’s final words to this world were, “I am the master of my fate. I am the captain of my soul.” He had his excuses as to why he blew up the federal building. He had his reasons as to why he took 168 innocent lives. And, I’m sure every abortive mother can rattle off a hundred reasons as to why she aborted her own child. Excuses notwithstanding, God hates murder and will execute justice perfectly to all who do murder.

Truth #26: God’s Judgment

Abortion is about taking one of God’s precious weavings, while He is weaving, and destroying it. I don’t understand how God can allow His own marvelous works to be ripped out of His hand, but the Day is coming when He will put an end to all baby-murder. I pray for the abortion of abortion (even if that means the abortion of America).

The prophet Isaiah said something about shedding innocent blood 700 years before Christ: “Their feet run to evil, and they make haste to shed innocent blood: their thoughts are thoughts of iniquity; wasting and destruction are in their paths. The way of peace they know not; and there is no judgment in their goings: they have made them crooked paths: whosoever goeth therein shall not know peace.” (Isaiah 59:7-8)

God hates the destruction of babies that He has created. He hates innocent lives terminated in the womb. Since 1973, He has shown great mercy to America (we haven't been destroyed yet). But, God is righteous and His justice will be seen. He hates hands that shed blood, whether that crime is done in an alley or in an office.

Abortion is a secret crime; it's done in the shadows. However, if a murder happens in a cold, dark, basement (with no witnesses) rather than out in the street (with lots of witnesses), does it make the crime any less heinous? And yet, America really doesn't want to accept responsibility for the innocent babies who have been murdered inside the womb.

God made man to reproduce. He made man to proliferate life; not take it. God will judge those who abort their babies as well as those in the government who “gave” this right to people. God says this, “Thus saith the LORD; Behold, I set before you the way of life, and the way of death.” (Jeremiah 21:8b) Is America going to turn around and follow life or will it continue following death?

Abortion exists in America for one reason: money. For a mother, it's money saved (when the baby isn't born) and for the abortionist/politician/vaccine corporation, it's money made. Money and materialism is the cause of abortion. Obviously, 60 million babies hasn't quenched America's thirst for more money and more things. America's appetite is insatiable. “He that loveth silver shall not be satisfied with silver; nor he that loveth abundance with increase: this is also vanity.” (Ecclesiastes 5:10)

That is why there is no outcry from the media over such a holocaust; everyone serves the same god. Everyone worships their own materialistic, money-driven self-interests. But, nothing goes unnoticed by God. He sees everything. He sees through all the lies and the marketing. He sees past all the catch phrases and mottos. He sees people’s rotten hearts and He has come to one conclusion: Judgment is coming to America for the lives of 60 Million babies. It’s not a matter of opinion. It’s a fact: God will stop baby-murder one day.

Truth #27: Pro-Choicers Need God

One time, I read a license plate holder that said, “Keep Abortion Legal”. It was so ironic to me that the driver in front of me was actually fighting for her own demise. She was advocating for her own non-existence. If this driver’s parents didn’t choose life, she wouldn’t be alive at this moment (let alone driving a car). Who is she to accept the gift of life, while at the same time rallying for and denying others of that same right?

Jesus loves Pro-Choicers more than they will ever realize. If He can forgive the very people who crucified him (“Father forgive them for they know not what they do” then He can forgive Pro-Choicers for they also “know not what they do”. God gives life and Pro-Choicers erroneously think that can take away life. Jesus creates souls—yes, even the souls of Pro-Choicers.

Pro-Choicers are made in the image of God, just like the babies they murder every day. Jesus is pro-life and He loves the souls of Pro-Choicers. Pro-Choicers need salvation just as much as the baby in the womb does. If you think about it: the radical Pro-Choicer is the same person as the baby in the womb: made in God’s image and in need of a Savior. To love the baby in the womb and not love our other neighbor, the Pro-Choicers is hypocrisy. We have to love all people inside and outside of the womb. If we pick and choose who we can love, we become just like the Pro-Choicer (dishing out life and only loving those whom we deem “worthy”)

God wants people to experience life (real life); not the life that the media and politicians push. It’s interesting to note that a name for Jesus (in the Bible) is “Life”. For example, Jesus says in John 11:25-26, “I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live: and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die. Believest thou this?”

John 4:14 says, “But whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him shall never thirst; but the water that I shall give him shall be in him a well of water springing up into everlasting life.” Don’t keep drinking the water of the Pro-Choice movement; it only leads to death.

The Pro-Choicer needs the gospel. Only the gospel can take a selfish, confused, murderous heart and make it new. Only the gospel can take a broken, destitute, lonely Pro-Choicer and make her a child of God. Only God can take someone who doesn’t value life and make them see the value of life. Only God can reveal abortion for the murderous choice that it is. Pray for Pro-Choicers that their eyes hearts and minds will be opened.

Truth #28: Forgiven

God has provided a way to satisfy the innocent blood that has been spilled in this country. He has provided a way that a woman’s sin-debt (of baby-murder) be satisfied. He has provided for even the abortionist and vaccine corporation to be forgiven. That way is called Jesus. Jesus paid the punishment for all of the abortions women have committed. He has satisfied payment for all doctors and nurses who are accomplices to prenatal manslaughter. He has paid for the sins of the the lawyers and the Supreme Court justices who shoved abortion down the American public. He has even forgiven the lazy, unsympathetic Church for the little they have done to stop abortion. America needs to turn back to Jesus. Abortive women need to turn back to Jesus.

One of the Bible's main themes is the contrast between light and darkness. God wants to steer people (and governments) away from darkness and into the light. He addresses this in Proverbs 4:19-23, "The way of the wicked is as darkness: they know not at what they stumble. My son, attend to my words; incline thine ear unto my sayings. Let them not depart from thine eyes; keep them in the midst of thine heart. For they are life unto those that find them, and health to all their flesh. Keep thy heart with all diligence; for out of it are the issues of life."

Life begins with Jesus and a forgiven life begins with Jesus. Jesus is the only hope for women who have aborted their sons and daughters. John 3:36 says, "He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life: and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him." Jesus is all about choice. He offers choices to everyone. The thing is, if your life isn't grounded in Him, all your choices are essentially votes for evil, as we all have a sin-nature. Some Pro-Choicers may come to Him (and turn from their ways), but most will not.

Most Pro-Choice people won't come to Jesus; I know that. They think Christianity is barbaric in its morality and only wants to "enslave women." As we've seen in this essay, the Pro-Choice movement, in fact, is barbaric in its morality and wants to enslave women. Christianity offers life and true freedom. It offers real choice to choose good from evil; not the "freedom" that will you keep you in shackles down the road.

This book is primarily about saving babies lives. But it is also about those who are alive, seeking the One who is called Life. God wants people to experience life (real life); not the life that the media and politicians push.

It's interesting to note that a name for Jesus (in the Bible) is "Life". For example, Jesus says in John 11:25-26, "I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live: and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die. Believest thou this?"

As Pro-Choice as American women feel that they are, I would hope that they become Pro-Life—real Pro-Life—and come to Jesus. He has come to set all women free from the blood they have shed. Any Pro-Choicer who comes to Jesus will never be thirsty again. Any woman who has had an abortion will find complete satisfaction and be set free.

Abortion always leaves one dead and one wounded. It's the wounded mother that dies as well. Abortion leaves nothing behind in its wake, besides destruction. Colossians 1:14 says, "In whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins." Christ's blood redeems even the heinous crime of abortion.

For the woman who has already aborted her baby, I would say this: I know that fear and hatred of babies may have allowed you to make the worst decision of your life. I know that the idea of responsibility or uncontrollable circumstances may have lead you to aborting your baby. I also know that the shrewd marketing of the Pro-Choicers may have tricked you into killing your baby. But, I will tell you that without Christ, your guilt will never go away. Christ is the only One you should run to. Why? Two reasons: He is holding your baby (in heaven) and He is the only One that can forgive you. You'll never be able to forgive yourself until He forgives you. You don't need a priest or any other good works. His blood already paid for your murder. He was murdered on a cross to cover your murder. He has saved murderers before. Turn to Him.

Truth #29: Politics and Abortion

All the political discussions on the legality of abortion talk about everyone's rights except the baby's rights. It's like a bunch of mobsters gathered around a poker table, discussing who will live or die. (as if lives are commodities like food and water and can be disposed of like trash at any point). Does any mobster-politician stop to think about the baby's feelings? What about the baby's hopes and dreams? A baby's life isn't to be discussed in such cold, complacent terms. Imagine if these mobster-politicians were the ones whose lives hung in the balance. What if the death of all politicians was being voted on by America— suddenly all politicians would become Pro-Life! Only when their neck (like each voting year) do politicians become Pro-life. Once they are voted in (and this goes for conservative or liberal politicians) the rights of the baby or long forgotten. The politician can rest easy for another 2 years; his job is safe. My question is: when is the baby in the womb ever safe?

Why do the same conservative politicians get elected each election season and yet abortion still exists? Why have the highest rates of abortion been during “conservative years”? Why were most of the 1973 Supreme Court of Roe v Wade appointed by Republican presidents? I have no faith in the conservative movement to abolish abortion. In fact, I'm liberal when it comes to abortion. It's barbaric to murder innocent babies in the womb. What is this- 5,000 BC? It's the conservatives who crucified Jesus. It's the conservatives who elected Hitler. It's the conservatives who keep abortion alive in the country to feed their pockets (as they own many death camps).

If a politician doesn't embrace life. Christians shouldn't embrace him. If a political party doesn't embrace life, Christians shouldn't embrace it. Republican candidates and the Republican party have failed miserably at protecting life. The Church doesn't get it: they keep voting in the same losers who do nothing to stop this massacre. Why? Because the politicians receive kickbacks from Planned Parenthood. No politician wants to stop this: this is their bread and butter. Enough is enough. Kick all the politicians out who don't value life beyond themselves.

Instead of trusting greedy politicians to do their job, there is another way to stopping abortion: interposition. Interposition is the standing in-between an oppressor and an innocent party. Interposition is a biblically-based concept as Moses, Samuel and Paul all stood in-between an oppressor and innocent party (to protect the oppressed). Every sidewalk counselor, every prayer warrior, every Pro-Life activist, every Pro-Life supporter is an interpositor. As Christians, we need to interpose between the evil state and the innocent baby in the womb. Anything less, makes us just as guilty as those performing the abortions. (For more information on interposition visit www.lessermagistrate.com and www.defytyrants.com)

The American people are under no obligation to obey unjust laws, like the laws of murdering the Pre-Born. Unjust laws by the American government are only as strong as people allow it to be. Laws have no power if people don't obey them. Evil laws should be righteously resisted against. Unjust laws, that hurt innocent people (i.e. our Pre-Born neighbors) are to be righteously resisted against.

There are several biblical examples of people standing up against their governments: Daniel, The Three Hebrew Children, Esther, all the Apostles, etc. It is time for the Church to stand up against the United States government's evil laws. This agrees with the philosophy of America's Founding Fathers: defy the tyrant. It is American to the core. We should be against evil in all its forms—even those who purport to be "American". Aborting babies in the womb is barbaric. It's time to put an end to abortion in the country.

Modern man has eliminated the slave trade in the past, women's suffrage and racial segregation. The next step is to eliminate the murder of Pre-Born children. Anyone who wants to preserve his own liberty in America will seek to preserve the liberty of the innocent. If there is no liberty for the baby in the womb, there is no liberty for anybody. If we are as advanced as we think we are (as Americans), then babies should stop being murdered. Or, it might as well be 5,000 BC.

I hate to state the obvious, but Republican politicians won't end abortion in America. Typically, Christians rush to the Republican Party to take up their cause against abortion. Unfortunately, Republicans have had control for most of the last 43 years (I'm talking presidents, Congress and judges), and yet babies are still being slaughtered. Putting your hope in Republicans is a waste of time. Any Pro-Life organization that is trying to team up with Republicans to "end abortion" is spinning their wheels. The truth is, Republican politicians need the Pro-life vote. But once they receive it, they continue on with business as usual. They really aren't in any hurry to end their voter-base. Come the next election, they hold the football like Lucy, and once again, Charlie Brown (the Church) flies up in the air and lands on his back. Pro-Life organizations and Pro-Life people need to quit giving their time, talent and treasure to these crooked politicians.

So, if the Democrats aren't going to eliminate abortion, and the Republicans aren't going to eliminate abortion, who is going to eliminate abortion?

Answer: the Church.

Truth #30: Church, Love Your Pre-Born Neighbor

The Underground Railroad (1840–1860) was a series of routes and safe houses used to free slaves from the south and get them safely into Canada. Many Christians and moral people worked on "the Railroad", risking their own lives and freedom to do so. One of those people was a black woman named Harriet Tubman who made 13 trips to the South, helping to free over 70 slaves. Another man, a Quaker abolitionist, Levi Coffin, helped more than 2,000 slaves escape to freedom. It is estimated that by 1850, 100,000 slaves had escaped via the "Railroad" to Canada. The Underground Railroad was truly a blessing to many slaves. God used this underground network to free many people.

Today, there is a need for another Underground Railroad. Today there is a need for those value life. There is a great evil happening in the world today under the name of "Choice". Will you be a sympathizer to this cause? Will you be an abolitionist and risk your life and freedom to free those who are being butchered in their mothers' wombs? Will you rise up and speak for the Pre-Born? Count the cost: are you willing to risk it all to save some babies? If you are, God wants to use you.

As we look around at the world, it should be evident that saving babies in the womb has essentially been delegated to the Church. It is the Church's responsibility to save the innocent. Psalm 82:3-4 says, "Defend the poor and fatherless: do justice to the afflicted and needy. Deliver the poor and needy: rid them out of the hand of the wicked."

The world doesn't care about the Pre-Born. In fact, the world is the one murdering them! So, if the Church isn't trying to save babies, then who is? Name one non-religious organization that is saving babies. (You would be hard-pressed to find one). No, the burden for saving the Pre-Born is not on anyone else but the Church. So, Church, what are you doing to save the lives of the Pre-Born?

It's sometimes easy for the Church to turn the other way and say, "Well, it's the mother's choice. There's nothing we can do about it." Firstly, it is not the mother's choice (or anyone else's choice) to take a life. Abortion is wrong because it is murder. God says murder is wrong. Secondly, there is something the Church can do: stop abortion completely. How is the Church to do that? God doesn't give a detailed plan, but He does tell us what to do.

He says this in Proverbs 24:10-12: "If thou faint in the day of adversity, thy strength is small. If thou forbear to deliver them that are drawn unto death, and those that are ready to be slain; If thou sayest, Behold, we knew it not; doth not he that pondereth the heart consider it? and he that keepeth thy soul, doth not he know it? and shall not he render to every man according to his works?"

If you, as a Christian, are not saving babies, then how many other Christians are not saving babies? Are babies not worth saving? Are babies not worth your time? Those two statements summarize the world's thoughts on the Pre-Born: not worth saving and not worth time. The Church has no business in thinking in those terms. Our time on earth is designed for saving lives. It is designed for loving our Pre-Born neighbor as ourselves.

Pray for the end of this 60-million baby holocaust. Pray for the death of America if it will stop one more baby from being murdered. Follow God and serve Him and He will end abortion. Proverbs 10:16 says, "The labor of the righteous tendeth to life: the fruit of the wicked to sin."

When you look at abortion, and your kids look at it, and they ask you one day what you did to stop it, what are you going to tell them? Were you involved in the Pro-life movement or did you sit on the sidelines? As you look back on your life, are you happy with what you did for the Pre-Born, or could you have done more? Proverbs 11:30 says, "The fruit of the righteous is a tree of life; and he that winneth souls is wise."

Some people have spent their entire lives fighting abortion. But it doesn't matter how much or how little you do, just do something for the Pre-Born. God will bless your efforts like the two widow's mites. Proverbs 21:21 says, "He that followeth after righteousness and mercy findeth life, righteousness, and honor."

The Church cannot remain silent any more. Just because the babies scream quietly in their mothers' wombs does not mean the Church can be quiet. A quiet murder is still a murder. God hears their screams even if the Church doesn't want to. Will the Church step up to the plate and listen with God's ears? Will the Church abort their silence so that they may abort abortion?

To fight for the Pre-Born starts with courage. It starts with a healthy fear of God. What will God say to you when you stand in front of Him? Will He say, "Well done good and faithful servant" or will he say "Depart from me you worker of iniquity”?

Proverbs 14:27 says, “The fear of the LORD is a fountain of life, to depart from the snares of death.” And, Proverbs 14:21 says, “He that despiseth his neighbor sinneth: but he that hath mercy on the poor, happy is he.” I can’t think of anyone poorer or more under-privileged or outcast or slandered against than the baby in the womb.

Jesus paid it all to redeem our souls from hell. The least we can do is save babies lives amidst this holocaust. May the Church stand up in these dark days and fight for the lives of the Pre-Born, regardless of the cost.

Every Christian has been saved to save innocent lives. The Church exists to save. If the Church fails at this mission, what good is she? I don’t care that it has been 43 years later since Roe v Wade—deaths are still happening every day. The Church needs to be faithful in this fight and not give up. We actually are in a good position. The Pro-Choicers have had the high ground for quite some time. But now the tide is turning. With the recent public videos by journalist David Daleiden on exposing Planned Parenthood’s selling of body parts—now is the time to strike. Now is the time to go on the offensive and not let up until we have complete abolition of abortion. We are to be faithful to Christ regardless of the wins or losses.

If every Christian stood up against the abortion offices in America, lives would be saved. My goal as a Christian isn’t to save millions of lives; just one. And another and another. Those precious souls that will be saved is worth all the pain, work, labor and frustration. If this book saves one baby because it makes a mom stop and think—it will have been worth it. How much is your life worth, Christian? How much is a baby’s life worth? Christian, save one baby this year.

Galatians 5:14 says, “For all the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this; Thou shalt love thy (Pre-Born) neighbor as thyself.” If the Church is not loving the weakest in society then who are they loving, the strongest? If they aren’t taking care of the poorest in America, then who are they taking care of, the richest? Our Pre-Born neighbor is the poorest and weakest among us and we need to be loving him as ourselves.

Like the world, God also wants to abort. The things He wants to abort are: abortion, hate and slavery. He says: Abort Guilt. Abort Feminism. Abort Death. Abort Sin. Abort Holocausts. Abort Materialism. Abort Greed. Just don't abort your baby.

The Church cannot be intimidated by the lies, deceit and power of the Pro-Choice movement. Paul says this to the Church at Galatia: 6:9: "And let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not. As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith." (Galatians 6:9-10)

Dietrich Bonhoeffer, the German pastor who was martyred in Nazi Germany said, "Silence in the face of evil is itself evil: God will not hold us guiltless. Not to speak is to speak. Not to act is to act." By not speaking up for the Pre-Born, the Church has spoken. By not acting on her Pre-Born neighbor's behalf, she has acted.

Planned Parenthood loves the church's laziness. They say, "Keep doing what you're doing and we'll keep doing what we're doing. Stay out of our business and we'll stay out of yours." However, the destruction of life—any life—is the Church's business. The Church is commanded by Christ to "love the least of these".

This is the evil of our day. The time to strike is now! It will take every so-called American Christian to abolish abortion.

Conclusion

Why is this book called, "The Most Dangerous Place on Earth?" It's not like the womb is war-torn Iraq or the beaches of Normandy or Iwo Jima. That is true. However, all those soldiers had an option to not move forward. Babies in the womb have no option. It

CHURCH

should be obvious by now that the baby in the womb is the most helpless individual in the world (in time and space). Their mothers can give everything to them or they can take everything from them. There is no middle ground.

What kind of woman kills her own offspring? I mean, seriously, women are supposed to be nurturing, caring and loving to their children—not murdering them because they are a nuisance. What kind of culture kills its Pre-Born babies and leaves them in dumpsters or flushes them down the toilet? That’s disturbing to think that a baby’s worst enemy is his own mother. The one who has already given him nutrients and life is the one who now wants to take that life away. A woman who aborts her own child, while holding up her “freedom” above his freedom to live is a sick and confused woman. It happens everyday in America, the land of the free.

A baby’s entire trust is placed in his mother. Since conception there is only one person a baby trusts: his mother. For a mother to terminate that poor trusting baby is the ultimate act of betrayal (think along the lines of Judas Iscariot, Brutus, Benedict Arnold, etc). Welcome to the world little one. Rule number one: don’t trust anyone; not even your own mother. Abortive women essentially say this to their baby in the womb: “You want nurturing from me? Forget it. You want love and affection from me—go take a hike, Baby. Life is about one thing: me. I am here to please me. I’m here to take care of my own needs and not anyone else’s.”

Somewhere along the line, abortive mothers forgot to love their neighbor as themselves. Perhaps women forgot that they, at one time were helpless babies in the womb. Perhaps they forgot that they trusted their mother for their every need. It’s completely hypocritical for Pro-Choicers to say children are bad, when in fact, they were a child. Their position for stopping children coming into the world is really an argument against their own existence. If their parents practiced what they preached, they wouldn’t be here. It’s fine for me to be here, but no one else. That sounds like a completely self-fulfilling philosophy.

When a baby is conceived, it is the beginning of an adventure—a lifelong adventure. No person should be robbed of the joys, laughter and love that having a baby brings. It takes courageous women—brave women—to take that first step in the journey. Take that first step and you will never be disappointed. I know that Pro-Choicers have tried to paint a horror story for young mothers saying “you can’t do this”, “you can have control later”, etc. But don’t believe their lies.

The adventure is now. God is giving you a baby now. Take his blessing and run with it. Murder is the chicken thing to do. Giving birth to a baby (unplanned or not) is the heroic thing to do.

The Pro-Choice movement exists to take away the breath of life. Its purpose is to stop every heart from beating, every ear from hearing, every eye from seeing, every tongue from tasting, every hand from holding. It’s a tragedy that those who choose to abort a baby are aborting their own joy in life.

Murder is nothing to ignore. You can try to ignore God, but God will never ignore His justice. He won’t ignore the 60 million babies that were sent back to Him. He will serve justice to all murderers in this world. God gave these 60 million babies out of love to parents and they gave them back out of ungratefulness. These parents didn’t think of their unexpected baby as a blessing; they wanted to get rid of this “curse” and send it back to where it came from. But when these couples were having sex, wasn’t that out of love? At the risk of being crude, I have to ask: how can a woman have her legs spread open during sex and also have her legs spread open to kill her baby? Can a woman’s womb be a place of love and a place of war?

As we’ve discussed, abortion is about one thing (on the business side): money. Abortion is about one thing on the customer side: convenience. A woman doesn’t want the inconvenience of a baby (the demand) and the doctor (business) satisfies that demand. The inconvenience industry (the abortion industry) only survives because of the demand for its services. Take away the demand and abortion would disappear overnight.

So how do you take away the demand of American women? It's hard. It's hard because American women have been brought up thinking that having a career is more valuable than having a family. She has also been brought up to think that she is a self-made woman and that even if she makes a mistake, she can get out of it (i.e. no real consequences given enough time or money). She believes today is all there is (i.e. live for today). She believes in no God (again, no lasting consequences for her actions). She believes that getting rid of a "blob of tissue" is no big deal. And, because that blob of tissue would interfere with her career—well, it's better to be a good, hardworking American woman rather than an American mom!

So how does the Church reach that kind of independent, selfish, child-hating, materialistic, atheistic woman?

Only Christ.

John 10:10 says, "The thief cometh not, but for to steal, and to kill, and to destroy: I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly."

As Christians, we need to point out America's sin and say what abortion really is (murder) and God's Spirit will convict women of their evils. When women start repenting of their abortions, demand will disappear.

Much propaganda, marketing and the use of large funds (from millions of selfish Pro-Choicers) has helped accomplish this holocaust. And, the Pro-Life movement, at times, seem insurmountable. But, here's the thing: we have God on our side. The Pro-Choicers don't.

The Church should accept nothing less than total abolition of abortion. Nothing less. Slavery was abolished in the 1860's. Total Abolition is the Church's goal. Voting on petty political measures—like stopping third trimester abortions or sex-selective abortions—is such a waste of time. If it's a baby in the third trimester, it's a baby in the first trimester and should not be a victim of infanticide! Quit playing the hypocrite, Church! Abolish abortion completely! Demand it from our politicians. Don't accept the little bones they throw at the Pro-Life movement. Fight it in front of your local abortion clinic. Fight it in social media. Christians have remained silent for so long in this woe-is-me mentality that they think can't do anything about abortion. Our job is not to overturn abortion tomorrow. Our job is to fight the battle one day at a time and let God determine the outcome.

Did you know that abortion is actually illegal in countries like Poland, Columbia, Peru, South Korea, Mexico and Brazil? These countries know that murdering a baby is wrong.

But, there are many countries (like America) who don't care that abortion is wrong. However, there will come a day that America (and all countries) will realize it. And, the first country that throws off the chains of abortion will see the blessings of God rain upon them. England abolished slavery about 40 years before America. (England was also the first to advocate birth control before America, so obviously countries can backslide). Perhaps America didn't have to go through a Civil War, had they just been honest with themselves and realized slavery was wrong. The lust for money and business and career are always blinding to the truth. Pray that America will end abortion peacefully. But, if not, then pray that America will just end abortion period. There can be no real freedom in America until ALL innocent lives are protected.

Just like when David was about to fight Goliath: David didn't know how the story would end. Neither did Goliath. The Church needs to step up its fight for the Pre-Born. This war is in God's hands and He will put down all His enemies. But we need to be the ones God is using to stop this holocaust.

It will take all of Christendom to take down Planned Parenthood. In fact, there is evidence that the end of abortion is closer than we realize. A recent Bloomberg report showed that 162 abortion facilities in 35 states have shut down between 2011 to 2015, while only 21 new facilities opened. Abortion is ending in America. Do you think that it will end completely? Do you believe God can do it? Of course He can.

CHURCH, SAVE A BABY TODAY

3,600 BABIES

LOSE THEIR LIVES EVERY DAY

The abortion industry has all the money, media and government on their side, but it doesn't matter. God will take all murderers down. And the Church has the beautiful privilege of being a part of this taking down. Won't you be a part of it? All Christians who took part in Pro-life events will be able to look back and say, "Man, I'm so glad I did that." All it takes is one photo shared on Facebook, one poster, one protest to reach someone who will rise up and take down this Goliath. It will be a glorious day when Planned Parenthood is in shambles and when all abortion doctors are behind bars. Get involved today!

"And the King shall answer and say unto them, Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me." –Matthew 25:40

Appendix C: Pro Life Mottos

The Pro-Choice movement has a lot of phrases and mottos that they like to parrot. The Pro-Life movement needs to counteract these soundbites with similar short mottos. The following is a short list of some helpful Pro-Life phrases that can and should be used in conversations with others. Our conversations should reflect a Pro-Life mindset. Our Christian lifestyle should reflect a Pro-Life mindset.

Appendix F: Pro-Life Scripture

Before I formed thee in the belly I knew thee; and before thou camest forth out of the womb I sanctified thee . . . — Jeremiah 1:5a

Did not he that made me in the womb make him? and did not one fashion us in the womb? — Job 31:15

Thou shalt not kill. —Exodus 20:13

Defend the poor and fatherless: do justice to the afflicted and needy. Deliver the poor and needy: rid them out of the hand of the wicked. —Psalm 82:3-4

“Open thy mouth for the dumb (mute) in the cause of all such as are appointed to destruction. Open thy mouth, judge righteously, and plead the cause of the poor and needy.” —Proverbs 31:8-9

If thou forbear to deliver them that are drawn unto death, and those that are ready to be slain; If thou sayest, Behold, we knew it not; doth not he that pondereth the heart consider it? and he that keepeth thy soul, doth not he know it? and shall not he render to every man according to his works? —Proverbs 24:11-12

For thou hast possessed my reins: thou hast covered me in my mother's womb. I will praise thee; for I am fearfully and wonderfully made: marvellous are thy works; and that my soul knoweth right well. My substance was not hid from thee, when I was made in secret, and curiously wrought in the lowest parts of the earth. Thine eyes did see my substance, yet being unperfect; and in thy book all my members were written, which in continuance were fashioned, when as yet there was none of them. — Psalm 139:13-16

Appendix G: Pro-Life Quotes

“I’ve noticed that everyone who is for abortion has already been born.”—Ronald Reagan

“To believe that a child must die so that you can live as you wish is true poverty.”—Mother Teresa

“The greatest destroyer of love and peace is abortion, which is war against the child. The mother doesn’t learn to love, but kills to solve her own problems. Any country that accepts abortion is not teaching its people to love, but to use any violence to get what they want.”—
Mother Teresa

“If man is not made in the image of God, nothing then stands in the way of inhumanity. There is no good reason why mankind should be perceived as special.” —Francis Schaeffer

“America you are beautiful . . . and blessed . . . The ultimate test of your greatness is the way you treat every human being, but especially the weakest and most defenseless. If you want equal justice for all and true freedom and lasting peace, then America, defend life.” —Pope John Paul II

“There are two victims in every abortion: a dead baby and a dead conscience.”—Mother Teresa

Appendix H: Pro-Life Social Media Action Plan

PRO-LIFE

SOCIAL MEDIA ACTION PLAN

One Post a Week on Your Facebook, Pinterest or Blog

bibleartbooks.com/prolife

For those Christians who don't have a lot of time, or don't really know what to do for the Pre-Born, I want to offer a few simple, online plans. These plans are designed not to be time-consuming, but also to be highly effective. Let's face it, the Church has to do something, but not all of us are gifted to be sidewalk counselors, activist picketers or public speakers. However, some of us are really good with technology, namely Facebook, Twitter, Pinterest. Some of us are talented to write blogs and email friends and family. It's for these people that the Pro-Life Social Media Action Plan is designed for. Following is a few simple plans that I hope to spur interest in Christians. It is at the grass-roots level that we can change public opinion regarding abortion. Social media and technology is where this battle is going to be fought. But there needs to be an army of courageous Christians willing to post and publish the truth, regardless of what others think of them.

A Prayer for the Pre-Born

Lord, Please wake my slumbering heart to care about the Pre-born

May I risk my own life, freedom and peace to give love to them.

My Pre-born neighbor deserves my compassion, grace and mercy.

May I be the one to shower God's blessings upon them.

Help me to have courage in these dark days.

Amen.

FOR I WAS AN HUNGRED, AND YE
GAVE ME MEAT. I WAS THIRSTY, AND YE GAVE ME DRINK. I WAS A STRANGER, AND YE TOOK ME IN...
— MATTHEW 25:35
