

LIE: ABORTION HELPS POOR FAMILIES

Pro-Choicers use arguments of the “poor family” or the “poor unplanning couple” to bolster their arguments against the life of the child. Does the lack of planning your “perfect family” supersede the value of a life? Does the possession of money (or lack thereof) decide for Americans whether they will kill an innocent child or not?

There are plenty of rich people who could have provided for their children everything (materialistically), who still have decided to kill their Pre-Born babies. And, on the other hand, there are plenty of unwed, poverty-stricken mothers who have decided to birth their babies into poverty.

We live in a society that says money and material possessions decide peoples’ morals for them. But, in reality, morals come from God and they are irrevocable. Money is a poor excuse to murder a baby in the womb. Choice is a lame justification for killing an unwanted Pre-Born child. There is right and wrong apart from money, material possessions and concepts of freedom. To murder, in God’s eyes, is never justified. Exodus 20:13 says, “Thou shalt not kill.” The Pro-Choicers would love to change God’s words to: “Thou shalt kill when it is convenient for you.”

The word, love, is used a lot in the justification of abortion. For example, it’s out of “love” that women want to abort because they “don’t want their child growing up in a poor home.” It is also out of “love” that the child would want the Pro-Choicer to be happy, wouldn’t he? It is insane to call abortion “out of love”. It’s like describing Jeffrey Dahmer’s 17 murders as being done “out of love”.

Poverty-stricken people aren’t the only people who allegedly get abortions. For example, did you know that Marilyn Monroe had at least 12 abortions by her late-twenties (according to author Norman Mailer). In addition, Lucille Ball, Judy Garland and Whoopi Goldberg all aborted their own children. Ava Gardner reportedly aborted two of Frank Sinatra’s children. Likewise, many reports (such as those from Judith Campbell Exner and Mimi Alford) show that JFK fathered many children that he later aborted (illegally, I might add as legal abortion didn’t exist yet). So much for the poor, outcast and destitute wanting abortions. Abortion is a convenience for selfish people of all classes: whether rich or poor, black or white, famous or unknown.

It’s sad that Pro-Choice women feel like they have “lost control” when they discover they are pregnant and therefore turn to abortion to give them back “control”. But what they don’t have control over is the sin in their own heart (the kind of sin that says you can sleep with whoever you want, whenever you want, with no commitment of fidelity). That is a life defined by uncontrollable urges. That is a life of being enslaved. God doesn’t want any woman to feel enslaved; He wants their heart to be free to love Him.
